The Latest, From Japan Germany Can Do It Air Battleships Wanted This Thrifty Country

Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1924, by Star Company)

GENTLE READER, what do you think of that League of Nations now as you read the latest news? Japan threatens to smash up the entire "protocol," demanding that the League of Nations shall authorize nations in the league to declare war against another country "because of immigration restriction."

In other words, Japan wants the league's support, or at least no league interference, if she decides to attack the United States as soon as she gets her fleet of flying ships ready.

PLAINLY AND BLUNTLY Japan says, "If we are in the league we want the right to interfere, even with questions of domestic sovereignty," which includes the right of a nation to control its immigration.

WHAT the United States wants is, nothing at all to do with the league, but a fleet of fighting airships big enough to take care of any air invasion, also enough airplane-carrying ships to cross the Atlantic or Pacific at high speed, releasing fighting planes to carry a needed lesson, in the shape of TNT and poison gas to any nation seeking to control the internal affairs of this country.

HIGH FINANCE assures us that the United States government and officials are not competent or honest enough to manage big undertakings.

How is it that other nations, Germany for instance, are able to manage public ownership?

Wireless telephones, owned by the German people, have just been installed by the German peoples' postoffice, on express trains, running between Berlin and Hamburg, on a railroad owned by the German people.

THIS WRITER yesterday asked Charles M. Schwab, biggest battleship builder: "Why don't you start now and be the biggest builder of fighting airships? This country needs five thousand of them at least, and public opinion will get them."

Schwab smiled his ten-million-dollar smile and said he would think about it.

MEANWHILE, business men that put Detroit on the map and Detroit products all over the world propose to add control of the flying machine industry. Edsel Ford supplies money for airplane research, and puts a flying field near his Dearborn plant at the service of all working on metal airplanes. The Hudson and Packard motor companies are spending money generously in the same direction.

All that is good news for those interested in this country's independence of foreign domination.

SOMEBODY is saving money in this country, because of higher wages and prohibition or whatever you choose. Savings deposited in 1923, as revealed at the bankers' convention in Chicago, amounted to more than EIGHTEEN THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS.

While the population of the country increased 14 per cent., savings bank deposits increased 108 per cent.

FOUR THOUSAND bankers are gathered together in Chicago as this is written, four thousand more are expected by tomorrow. They all seem cheerful and expect business to go on growing.

IT PAYS to be prepared. Look at little Switzerland. Every man of fighting age is trained, has his weapon, keeps it in order under government inspection. Every nation in Europe knows that to conquer Switzerland would cost more than the whole of Switzerland is worth.

THIS IS one result. The money of Switzerland is

GAS MEN HIT; PRICE CUT

11 INDICTED IN RUM PLOT

SALISBURY CHIEF IS AMONG LIST

Life-Saving Captain Accused Also in Plum Island Liquor Running

Eleven men, including Harold F. Congdon, chief of the Salisbury police, were indicted by the Federal Grand Jury today in connection with the Plum Island-Salisbury Beach rum-running scandals.

Ruel S. Getchell, member of the board of selectmen of Salisbury, was among the prominent men indicted, as were Harry F. Burnham and Albert H. Reynolds, prominent residents of Newburyport.

Burnham is captain of the Newburyport life saving station on Pine Island, while Reynolds is a clothing dealer, former member of the city council, and active in Masonic circles.

The others were Dennis J. Kelleher, proprietor of the Hotel Dennis at Salisbury Beach, who lives in Newburyport; John Scribner, Antonio Caramagno, alias The Jap, and Edward B. George, all of Salisbury, Carl Voss, Newburyport, John Grullo, Newburyport and Stephen Senia, Salisbury.

EVIDENCE PRESENTED.

According to evidence presented to the Grand Jury, Congdon, Getchell and Burnham were alleged to have received $100 each for every boatload of liquor landed at the mouth of the Merrimack River, on the south side of which Plum Island is located. Testimony was introduced to show that load after load of illicit spirits was landed during the Winter months and transported to Salisbury, where it was held by Scribner as a depository.

Reynolds' only connection with the affair, it was said, was to turn over to Congdon, Burnham the money which was left for him at Reynolds' store.

Congdon was charged with being head of the conspiracy. All were justified on charges of conspiracy to transport liquor illegally.

The indictments are the result of two investigations by the local Federal authorities, the first of which was pigeon holed. When the second was started, several months ago, it was disclosed in an affidavit made by Mrs. Congdon had disappeared from the files of the Department of Justice.

It was reported that Chief Congdon had paid $1500 to a former Department of Justice employe for the

SHE CLAIMS SHARE OF CRABTREE ESTATE

MRS. DOROTHY CRABTREE COFFIN

Mrs. Coffin is a third cousin of the noted woman, and she will be aided in her claim by her mother and other relatives of the rich Boston actress.

TOWNS UNITE TO BATTLE NEW HAVEN

With one town of 4,000 people almost isolated as a result of the elimination of important trains and with the wrath of thousands of commuters growing hourly, officials of the New Haven road are facing a bitter fight for the restoration of train service.

Practically every station within the local area of the New Haven road is affected by the recent schedule slashing. Protest against the move from every city and town served by the road in this area will be lodged with the Public Utilities board within a week, the indications are today.

Residents of East Bridgewater have been hard hit by the New Haven in its latest service cut and the fight against elimination of three of the six trains connecting the community with Whitman and Boston like has begun.

East Bridgewater working people are compelled to trolley 28 miles a day at a cost of about a dollar each

MYSTERY NOTE IN CRABTREE WILL FIGHT

Claimants in relationship to Lotta Crabtree and a share in the $4,000,000 estate she left to charity still have their claims on their descent from three Crabtree brothers who came to this country from Scotland.

This was indicated today by an Anonymous letter received by Attorney William A. Morse, named in the original estate favorite and one of the executors and trustees named in her will.

The letter, evidently written by a woman, tells of Edwin Garrison Crabtree, the nephew of Lotta from Gilsworth, Me., on a voyage to Scotland. There he met a relative of the local rumor called Crabtree castle.

TELL OF THREE BROTHERS.

Old folk of the town and three young brothers, the last representatives of the family, went from there ago to America. Three were the ages John and Asa Crabtree (George set tled in New York and his grand daughter was the great Lotta). Asa went to California and founded the San Francisco branch of the family. That story contradicts Lotta's statement that her ancestors were Irish.

Attorney Morse believes the writer is Mabel Louise Crabtree, who wrote him previously claiming Lotta as a first cousin.

Trustees of the estate today said

MAINE IS SHAKEN BY QUAKE

Buildings Rock as Two Distinct Earth Shocks Are Recorded

Portland, Me., Sept. 30.—A slight earthquake was felt early today in this city and reports from Rockland and other Maine points indicate that the movement was apparent over a large area.

In Rockland two distinct shocks were reported, the first at 2:50 o'clock, rocked buildings while the second, five minutes later was slighter.

Washington, Sept. 30.—An earthquake of slight intensity was registered on the seismograph of Georgetown University early today, beginning at 2:54 o'clock and lasting until 4:40. Father Tondorf estimated the distance as probably within a radius of 500 miles of Washington.

KILLED WHEN CASTINGS AMPUTATE BOTH LEGS

William Pino of No. 21 Winter street, Cambridge, was fatally injured at the Blake & Knowles Pump Works, Cambridge, today, where he is a foreman, when a ton of castings fell on him, cutting off both legs near the body.

He was dead when he arrived at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Police say the accident was caused by a broken wheel on a truck on which the castings were piled.

SON FINDS MOTHER'S BODY IN SHAWSHEEN

The body of Mrs. Harriette C. Harding, wife of George L. Harding of Bedford, was found in the Shawsheen river near her home on the old Billerica road, by her son Phillip S. Harding, today.

The woman, who had been in poor health for some time, had evidently left her bed and clad only in night clothing had gone to the river and drowned herself in. She leaves, besides her husband, a daughter and two sons.

GASOLINE PRICE CUT 3 CENTS

Dealers Rush to Cover, Following Stinging Report by State Board

Rudely awakened from their dream of peaceful profiteering by a stinging report issued today by the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life, the wholesale and retail gasoline dealers of Greater Boston began tumbling over themselves in their zeal to lower prices.

Now, long after the report was issued, the Standard Oil Company announced a cut of 3 cents a gallon on the price of gasoline. That brings the tanks price to 16 cents a gallon, and the tank wagon price to 15 cents.

AFFECTS ALL N. E.

The cut is effective all over New England and was announced to "stabilize the market" according to the accompanying statement.

Jenney Manufacturing Company was the next to join with the announcement of a 1 cent a gallon cut, making the retail price 18 cents and the price to the tank wagons 16 cents.

Keith as to what the New York chief may have said in the way of the commission's vigorous report, for no one, not even the chief of the Standard Oil Company had failed to hear from a dozen of the leading gas dealers in New York and New England 16 cents a gallon. The Atlantic Refining Co. of the Continental of New York followed suit.

The Colonial Filling Stations also announced a cut of 1 cent a gallon, making the retail price 18 cents and the price to the tank wagons 16 cents.

The premium on the insurance, which is based on the airship's safe arrival at Lakehurst, is four per cent. The personnel will not be insured.

LA FOLLETTE IS LEADING DAVIS BY 17 VOTES

Of the 4,045 votes cast up to 6 o'clock this afternoon in the straw ballot being taken by the Boston American in Greater Boston, President Coolidge has received 2,002, or exactly 39 more than have been marked for Robert M. La Follette and John W. Davis put together.

La Follette polls fifty-six votes.

If the Presidential Poll ships were asked to name three Senators of the balloting in this city would pass our three.

1—That all this seems the President's seventh appears to be about equal to that of his two opponents combined.

2—That the number of Democrats who will switch to Coolidge this year is about equal to the number of Republicans who announce a determination to vote for John W. Davis.

FALLS INTO ELEVATOR SHAFT

Victim, 45 Years Old, Drops to Death in Tremont Building

An unidentified woman, forty-five years old and well dressed, fell from an elevator of the Tremont Building in a belated attempt to get off at the tenth floor today, slipped on alighting and tumbled back into the elevator well, falling ten floors to her death.

Nearly every man in the building was witness to the tragedy.

According to Max Marcus Carmen, operator of the elevator of the building on Tremont and Hancock streets, the unidentified woman got aboard on the seventh floor with other passengers.

As the train floor the operator opened the door and called the floor, several passengers left the car and then the operator started to slide the door closed again.

Apparently her realizing that she was about to be separated from the passengers allowed a step darted forward, flung the opening aside and dived out of the moving car.

As her feet landed on the floor she slipped, while the car continued to ascend, upended for a second or two, and then toppled backward into the well, crashing down to the ground.

There were immediate outbursts in the building and the police were notified.

TOWNS UNITE TO FIGHT NEW HAVEN CUTS IN ITS TRAIN SERVICE

COMMITTEES ARE FORMED TO DEMAND RELIEF

by way of Brockton to Whitman factories where most of them are employed, by reason of the discontinuance of morning and night trains on the fast Bridgewater branch line.

Scores of boys and girls, students in Boston colleges and schools, are having added hardship and expense because of lack of direct transportation with the city.

And although protest has been lodged by East Bridgewater residents with the Department of Public Utilities no relief is in sight.

East Bridgewater is connected with the main line to Plymouth by a branch line about eight miles long. On an average six trains a day transported the patrons to work and to business in Boston.

Elimination of three of these trains—the most important ones—necessitates trolley travelling in and from Whitman and East Bridgewater, a distance of fourteen miles each way, with five fares of 10 cents each.

The men of Bridgewater are determined to, and by, Senator George M. Webber and Selectman S. Wentworth, they are forming plans for a spirited fight for restoration of the lost trains.

Similar action is being taken in Whitman, where Representative Manley Wendell is leading the movement for restoration of trains connecting that town with Boston and the Cape.

Selectman Clark is great agitator. Mayor Gustave B. Bates today mailed copies of his letter of protest against the New Haven "cut back" program to all local civic and social organizations.

Action has been taken today by the Public Utilities Commission relative to the petition of residents of Allston for an investigation of the "outrageous" new train schedule of the New Haven Railroad.

In the absence of the chairman of the commission, who is at home on account of a cold, Commissioner Edwin U. Bean will be presumed a hearing would eventually be given at which time commuters would be given a chance to take their protests. He said the commission is anxious to offer its services in any way deemed with a view to better service if the facts warrant.

Many meetings are scheduled for this week and next and Quincy is preparing to form the united opposition to the cuts from the Old Colony lines. The Board of Trade is to be the guiding spirit of the united opposition.

Utilities board action will be called upon to order restabilization of the impaired service.

UNITED OPPOSITION.

At the meeting in Quincy tomorrow night, Wednesday, members of the Federal Industrial Association of this city will take up the cudgels of disgruntled Dorchester, Neponset and Hyde Park patrons of the New Haven, who are chafing at the New Haven's latest bit of "train juggling."

Well connected plans looking to immediate relief will be adopted at this meeting.

In Atlantic, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston, Quincy, Squantum, South Braintree as well as in the Weymouths, Cohasset, Hingham, Hull and Plymouth leading citizens are sponsoring activities which will culminate in united opposition to the road's new policy.

It is suggested that when the New Haven announced 20 per cent increases in the cost of commutation tickets on its local lines last year that improved service would be offered and that plenty of trains during the rush hours would be provided for the commuters.

Added revenue to the amount of $1,000,000 accrues to the road each year under the new rate schedule, it is pointed out, and commuters' committees and individuals fin "forceful arguments against the trains cut in its latest plan.

Scores of complaints both by telephone and by personal call, have been received by the Boston American.

John McDowell, of No. 1164 Great Plain avenue, Needham, complains that out of 22 trains, going in and out of Needham, Needham Heights and Needham Town Hall, four only, for Boston, nine have been cut off the schedule entirely.

He said, that after having taking the 811 train for Boston every morning for the past two years. This train which used to get me to work in reasonable time, has been cut off the schedule altogether. Although passengers on the average, used this Needham branch train every morning.

"Now those commuters will either have to take the new 7.32 train from Auburndale Upper Falls, which will not get them to work on time, or will have to get up early and take the 6.48 train, a great inconvenience.

ABSOLUTELY CUT OFF.

"It's the same way at night. For example the train which left the South Station at 5.45 was just right for those commuters who left work at 5.30. This train has been discontinued and another train at 5.20 runs in place of it.

"Incidentally this is the last train for the Needham branch at night as the 11.20 tru n has also been discontinued, so if we lose the 4.39 we either have to walk or stay in town all night, as there is no street car service from Needham Junction.

In reply to a letter written by Mr. McDowell to Superintendent Hodge of the Midland Division of the New Haven road, protesting against the cut in trains, Hodge wrote:

"The schedules as arranged by the committee representing the various towns between Needham and Woonsocket were agreed to by this company and they are to be tried out, and if found not as required by the people the whole matter will be gone over again."

HOURS EXPLANATION.

"At the present time taking all the trains now being run for the benefit of the Needham service, that is between Cook street and Boston and Cook street and Needham Junction, it involves twenty trains with a total of 849 people, or an average of 37 passengers per train, the two heaviest trains being No. 7204, with 104 passengers, and No. 7241 with 138 passengers.

"Many of the balance of the trains handle from one to 37 people, which schedules of course could not consistently be maintained on account of the heavy loss in operating expense in covering such a large number of trains for such a small number of people. In the future we may be able to work out something with the various committees which will give slightly better accommodations without additional cost."

4,000 CHINESE KILLED OR WOUNDED IN BATTLE

Shanghai, Sept. 30 (I.N.S.).—Four thousand persons have been killed and wounded—the heaviest battle casualty list in Chinese civil strife—in the battle lines outside Shanghai remained essentially unchanged today. Machine guns hammered the Chekiang and Kiangsu lines. Several bridges have been dynamited on the Kangchow railroad by General Sun Ying Hsing's troops to prevent the Kiangsu forces from moving up big guns to strengthen their attempt to take Shanghai.

High Seas Pirate One Step Nearer Gallows

Brest, France, Sept. 30.—Max Jerome Pfaff, German-American, charged with piracy on the high seas in connection with the boarding of the French steamer Mulhouse off the Canadian coast last July when, it is alleged, 36,000 cases of whiskey were removed at revolvers' point to schooners standing by, was given an examination today and was held without bail for trial.

The penalty in case of conviction is death by hanging.

Pfaff pleaded not guilty and his attorneys asked that he be admitted to bail since the defence would be obliged to send to the United States and Canada for evidence. This request was denied.

CURLEY HAS LAP ON FULLER IN EXPENSES

Mayor Put Out $4,259 to Get Things Going; Aivan T. Used Up $3,997

Mayor James M. Curley spent $4,259.97 to obtain the Democratic nomination for Governor, according to the returns he filed today at the State House.

Lieutenant-Governor Alvan T. Fuller, who will be his opponent at the polls next month, spent $3,997.36 for the Republican nomination.

Curley's first entry is dated September 4, 1923, $60 for the Brockton Agricultural Society. His largest items were for printing, being reflected by $241.50, $570, $173.50 and $678. Most of his expense was for printing, for personal mailings to many workers, for telephone services and other publicity expenses.

Fuller's first item is dated March 21. Postage at $991.56 is the largest item, printing, $805.03; stationery, $682 and no dividends.

Horace A. Keith spent $2791.13; William S. Youngman, $2685.06; Frederick W. Dallinger, $4260.95; Frederick W. Cook, $28; Frank G. Allen, $1,467.87; Louis A. Coolidge, $4844.13.

DEALERS SLASH GASOLINE RATES

The Standard Oil Company of New York reduced the dock wagon price of gasoline by one cent a gallon in New England and New York. Similar reductions were made by the Texas and Sinclair companies.

The commission's report was one of the most pointed and rigorous ever handed down.

It found that "secret concessions" are given retailers by the wholesalers who hope thereby to control the market and the price, and subjects many of such concessions to torial "concessions," to Attorney-General Jay R. Benton.

Gasoline prices are far too high in Massachusetts, higher even than in other parts of the country, according to the report.

It found that 10 cents a gallon to refine crude oil into gasoline and it makes consumers in eastern Massachusetts pay 9 to nine cents more.

CONDEMNS COST HERE.

"Such a cost in so small and densely settled an area is unjustified," the report continued.

Concerning the "special" concessions, the report said, "Whatever their purpose, they will result in the elimination of dealers not receiving them. It would seem to be that these secret concessions result in a condition which the so-called 'anti-discrimination law' seeks to prevent."

Those found guilty of breaking the law referred to may be barred from doing business in the state.

In its report, the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life declared that the price of gasoline was higher in Boston than in almost any other city of the country. Massachusetts spends $80,000,000 a year for gasoline.

In the report a table was given showing the retail price of gasoline in Boston as compared with other cities of the country. The table was prepared prior to the cuts from 1 to 3 cents a gallon announced today. Comparison follows:

Place	Price per gallon (exclusive of tax)
Boston, Mass.	19c
Buffalo, N. Y.	13 to 17
Syracuse, N. Y.	16
Cleveland, O.	15 to 17
Toledo, O.	17
Louisville, Ky.	15
Detroit, Mich.	13.5
Omaha, Neb.	14
Indianapolis, Ind.	13.7
Chicago, Ill.	16
St. Louis, Mo.	14.4
Des Moines, Iowa	15.5
Milwaukee, Wis.	15.1
Wichita, Kan.	13.8
Dallas, Texas	13 to 15

The commission found the retailer of gasoline in Massachusetts has a margin of from 2 to 5 cents a gallon, including the cost of transportation. Most retailers had a margin of from 2 to 5 cents a gallon. Margin of 2 cents.

The Federal Fuel Administration in 1919, when the price of gasoline was 17 cents a gallon at retail, allowed the retail dealer a margin of about 2 cents a gallon. Since 1919 many so-called jobbers have come into existence.

These jobbers, the report stated, buy and sell gasoline at wholesale and are able to get a price from refiners and wholesalers of 3 cents or more below the tank wagon price.

Many fancy filling stations with elaborate so-called "free services" have been put into operation, the report continues. Little or no effort, however, has been made to sell gasoline for cash with simplified service to those who do not desire the so-called "free service."

The commission finds that the retail price of gasoline in Massachusetts is out of line compared with the price in many other parts of the country," says the report.

The commission suggests a "gas" strike on the part of motorists to compel the dealers to lower prices.

"The commission finds," states the report, "that the retail price of gasoline in Massachusetts is out of line with prices in many other parts of the country. The distribution of gasoline in the oil industry can probably provide relief to the gasoline consumers in Massachusetts. If such relief is not provided by those at present engaged in the industry, the buyer possesses a most powerful economic weapon: that is discrimination in making purchases.

"For example, last Spring a 15 cent gasoline league was formed by consumers in a large western city. At that time the price of gasoline was over 20 6cents a gallon. Members of the league obligated themselves to do only necessary riding until such time as they were able to obtain gasoline for 16 cents a gallon.

TO FORCE REDUCTION.

Members also agreed to patronize those dealers who sold gasoline at the lowest price. The action of this league resulted in reducing the price of gasoline to 15 cents a gallon last Summer. Gasoline is now retailing in that city below 15 cents."

Reference to the secret price concessions was as follows:

"Secret price concessions are given many retail dealers by most wholesalers. These secret price concessions range from one cent to three cents and more a gallon below the posted tank wagon price, which is now seventeen cents a gallon.

"Some dealers receive no concessions. These concessions are regarded as secret profits by some dealers; others use them to enlarge service given customers; and, other dealers seeking greater volume of business divide these secret concessions with the public by slightly lowering prices.

"The Commission finds that the whole industry in Massachusetts is honey-combed with the deplorable practice of secret concessions to favored customers."

PRICES WESTWARD

"The Commission found in the Springfield district that the retail price of gasoline was about 2c per gallon below that in eastern part of the State. It is evident that many dealers in the western part of the State were willing to divide the secret concessions which they were receiving with the public in order to increase their business.

"This method doing business resulted in a lower retail price prevailing in the territory comparatively sparsely settled with a higher freight rate than in the more densely populated Eastern part of the State with a lower transportation cost.

An attempt was made in the Springfield district to organize the dealers, and prices of gasoline were raised. When the Commission investigated the raising of prices in this district, prices were quickly restored to the lower level.

The report has been referred to Attorney-General Jay R. Benton, who will consult with the head of the commission. Attorney-General Benton is awaiting receipt of testimony taken at Springfield concerning alleged price fixing.

ULSTER LEADER THREATENS BLOODY WAR

Declares Troops Organized in England to Prevent Partition

Belfast, Sept. 30 (I.N.S.).—A threat of war was sounded today by John Parly, secretary of the Ulster government, in a speech at Enniskillen. "We are determined to resist by bloodshed any attempt to filch Ulster's territory," said Parly. "Battalions already have been organized at Liverpool to come to our assistance."

London, Sept. 30 (I.N.S.).—Prime Minister MacDonald moved second reading in the House of Commons today of the bill providing for the creation of an Irish Boundary Commission without the participation of Ulster.

The premier declared it was the essential duty of every government to fulfil its obligations. He said he resented the charge that the government's move was an attempt to coerce Ulster.

Mr. MacDonald contended that whatever government might be in power would find no other possible course than the one he had been pursuing.

After reviewing the events leading up to the Anglo-Irish treaty, a vital part of which was the adjustment of the boundaries between Ulster and the Free State, he said that the important machinery for the boundary adjustment was faulty and that, in consequence, the whole agreement was jeopardized.

The government now was simply seeking to find a remedy for the original defect, the premier declared.

Herbert Asquith, former premier, and Liberal leader, declared that the Liberals would give the Irish bill their hearty and undivided support.

POLICE PREVENT DISORDER AT WALTHAM

A squad of police patrolling streets about the factory of the Waltham Watch and Clock Company today prevented a repetition of the disorder yesterday between the 1,500 strikers and those who remained at work.

Plans were laid, however, for a peaceful demonstration later in the day when the strikers would wear yellow handkerchiefs.

Officials of the Watchmakers Protective Association announced the fight would continue until the wage scale in effect August 11, before the strike, is restored.

They are advising strikers to obtain employment elsewhere, and many have obtained work in watch factories in other parts of the country.

"We would rather that the name Waltham never appeared again on a watch than accept the reduction proposed by the company," they say.

Strike officials laid yesterday's disorders to outsiders.

KNITTER HEADS ON TRIAL FOR MAIL FRAUD

Two Lowell city officials, Harry P. Doherty, commissioner of streets, and Fred G. Leary, commissioner of public safety, were named in the United States District Court, criminal session, today for alleged use of the mails to defraud through the mails.

They arrest reasons and viewpoint, respectively of the Tryon Knitter Corporation, of which Edward R. Tryon and William E. Gray, also defendants, were president and secretary.

Assistan United States Attorney Essex Abbott told Judge Morton and the jury he would prove the knitter company had been formed to defraud people.

The company offered to supply a knitter for use in the home and to market the product, affording a comfortable income to those who took the offer.

The knitter, Abbott said, was a 1876 type, and the company also failed to keep their promise to market the products.

LOUISIANA SHUTS OUT LA FOLLETTE ELECTORS

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 30.—Secretary of State Bailey refused to place the names of the La Follette-Wheeler electors on the Louisiana ballot for the November election. He ruled that only registered voters who had declared themselves independent could sign the petition necessary to place the names on the ballot. The petition as presented to him contained signatures of thousands of voters who had registered as Democrats.

When the case was presented to the Grand Jury about two weeks ago, the Government had some forty witnesses on hand, who were held incommunicado in a room off the Grand Jury room. A Haverhill attorney was ordered out of the Federal building after he had talked with certain of the witnesses and advised them to stand on their rights.

GORKY HAS RELAPSE; IS EXPECTED TO DIE

London, Sept. 30 (I.N.S.).—Maxim Gorky, the Russian novelist, who is suffering from tuberculosis and kidney disease, was reported to have suffered a relapse from which recovery is unlikely, according to advices today from Copenhagen. Gorky was planning to visit the United States again this Winter.

Peabody's Fee Still Waits

W. Rodman Peabody's application for the $7,500 fee as building agent of the Tremont Trust Company was held up again today, Judge Carroll of the Supreme Court continued the case until October 14, when there will be a hearing.

FORGERY PLOT CHARGED IN LAWRENCE

Mayor and Others Deny Signing the Anti-Charter Petition

Startling disclosures involving charges of forgery and fraud were expected today when a petition was filed in the Supreme Court asking a writ of mandamus against placing the Lawrence charter issue on the ballot.

A bitter fight was predicted between the two factions, one headed by Dennis E. Callahan, who sponsored the moves for a new charter, and the Mayor by Attorney John P. Kane, who filed the original papers in behalf of the anti-charter aggregation.

The leading feature of the contest was the announcement by Mayor Walter T. Rochefort that he had not signed the anti-charter petition, and that if his name is on it it is a forgery.

Mayor Rochefort has been a neutral throughout, and the statement that his name was on the anti-charter petition occasioned much surprise. Attorney General Jay R. Benton stated that the Lawrence chief executive was one of the signers together with the four Lawrence aldermen.

"I did not sign the petition," said the mayor, "and if my signature is on the petition it is a forgery."

Peculiarly enough the basis of the petition itself is the contention that names were falsely written on the original papers asking for a new form of government.

It is also contended that a number of the persons who appear as signers of the papers, did not sign them at all nor did they authorize their names to be signed.

It is probable that handwriting experts will be called in for testimony concerning the case.

Dennis E. Callahan, who is principal of the Oliver school, and chief school teachers who circulated many of the petition papers for the new charter, wrife the Palmer system of handwriting which is supposed to be identical in the general appearance and formation of its characters to the average lay person.

A signature which had been questioned by the registrars was that of a man who wrote thereby to contest signer of another name.

It developed that the woman was an aunt to the other signer and had inherited a general style of handwriting which apparently was common to the family.

GIVEN 2 MONTHS FOR THEFTS FROM STORE

Francis Dillon and James Trainor, both of Worcester, with Walter Brush, Boston, were charged with shoplifting from a Boston store, were in Municipal Court today. Hyall was sentenced to two months in the House of Correction, and the cases of the other two men were continued to the first week in October.

They were arrested by Detective James Morrissey and Special Officer Robert Lyle, of Divisio 4, as they came out of a department store with suspicious looking bundles, which were found to contain three dresses and other clothing.

FIND SKELETON OF MAN WHO SOUGHT TREASURE

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 30.—A tale of a lone man's quest for treasure, said by folk lore to have been buried by Indians in the mountains of Kanawha County, is believed by authorities to have been unfolded by the finding of a human skeleton in a section of the mountains where rocky cliffs and deep caverns abound. A weather-stained newspaper containing an account of the treasure legend was found near the skeleton.

DISCOVER BODY OF RUM ROW CUSTOMER

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 30.—A report was received here today from coast guards at Richmond, Va., that a man's body found there on the shore apparently answers the description of George Schenig of South River, N. J., who has been missing since September 9. Schenig's wife reported to police of his home with $5,000 and an company with two other men to have gone to Rum Row to buy liquor.

EX-POLICEMAN UP FOR THEFT OF 18 CENTS

John Allen, former Cambridge policeman, who was dismissed for drunkenness several weeks ago, was arraigned in Cambridge court today, charged with robbing Edward J. Burns of No. 113 Hampshire street, Cambridge.

The former policeman's alleged loot was 18 cents and half a pint of liquor taken from Burns' pockets.

Allen was held in $1,000 for trial Thursday.

IDIOT BABY FOUND; GLAND TREATMENT MAY RESTORE FACULTIES

DOCTOR SAYS HE TOOK GIRL AWAY TO SPARE MOTHER

New York, Sept. 30.—The girl infant of a mongol type which disappeared from the Hunt's Point Hospital, was found by Detective Sergeant Stetter in the Park View Hospital, Manhattan, after a search under the direction of District Attorney McGeehan.

The child, whose parents live on a Grand avenue, the Bronx, was born last Thursday. The name of the parents is Friedman and the directory of the city has many pages of that name.

The identification is not made definitely for the reason that the little one, through modern glandular treatment, may be made whole and in later years might carry the stigma of the mongol.

With the removal of the child from the Bronx Hospital there came a cloud of rumors, started by two nurses, who say that they had been told not to feed the child, because of her deformities and because she would be a burden to herself and to others if she lived.

One report was that the physician who attended the mother had taken the baby away in his bag. Another report was that she had been smuggled away by the father. However, the Hunt's Point Hospital authorities did not know where she had been taken and the search began.

The attending physician was found and he put to rest the stories. He is Dr. Oscar Spier, No. 51 West Ninety-sixth street.

Dr. Spier said:

"The child is of the mongol type and it was taken away from the mother because of the depressing effect it would necessarily have on her. It is in the Park View Hospital and is taking nourishment."

The Friedman baby was said at the hospital to be similar to that which was permitted to die in Child, 1915 by Dr. Harry J. Haiselden.

The "Haiselden baby," as it was called, was Allan J. Bollinger, six days old. The Chicago physician refused to operate and make an attempt to save the baby's life because of the nature of Allan's infirmities.

The Friedman baby, it is said, did not have enough skull to hold a human brain. The Bollinger baby was likewise afflicted and his brain tissue was degenerated at birth. He had only one extremely small portly formed ear.

The Chicago case attracted attention all over the world because the issue was raised as to the right of a physician to refuse to aid in the continuance of human life.

Dr. Haiselden stood by his conviction that it was wrong to allow such a creature to exist. He was tried, and was acquitted, as having acted with his ethical and moral rights, although he was dropped by the Chicago Medical Society for having written a book about the case in which he advocated painless death for such infants.

For the first time the issue arises in Greater New York with the Friedman baby. Many cases have been born in the crowded sections of the city and many have lived to get glandular treatment in the clinic maintained by Dr. Max G. Schlapp at the Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital.

The imbecile children that have been brought to the clinic of Dr. Schlapp for glandular treatment are not infants. They have been found tottering about the tenements or crawling about them, mouths gaping, no light of intelligence in their eyes, heads frightfully misshapen, by social workers.

The modern glandular treatment has changed the expressions of their faces and in many instances brought them to normality.

However, many a tragedy has resulted by the failure of the parents to keep up the treatment, and the unfortunate little ones have plunged back into the abyss. This class has produced murderers, perambulators and other criminals the country over, Dr. Schlapp asserts.

'WONDER' GIRL SOLVES ALL PUZZLES

Picks Senators to Beat Giants and, of Course, She Knows

Gifted beyond the ordinary in intelligence, married as a leader in brain power, discernment and personality by Harvard mentors, Miss Muriel Black, twenty-four-year-old blonde school teacher of Plymouth, donned her cloak of genius today and solved a perplexity that has puzzled the universe.

"Washington will win the World Series." In these six words, the possessor of mental gifts beyond the ordinary came through like a little lookout general and set the hearts of the capital at rest.

BROTHERS WILL LAUGH.

She did more than that in giving testimony that even genius is normally human and that feminine genius is just the sister of bullying and scoffing brothers who have no respect at all for talent within the family—not on the male side.

"How my kid brothers will roar," she laughed when told that she had been named as an impresario of intellect. "What do you know about that?" they'll say when they read that I'm supposed to be a genius."

Miss Black certainly is a flighty girl—as flighty as a Supreme Court justice. She is as excited as a student delving into biology in the public library, over her selection as a lady extraordinary.

"I feel no different today after winning this contest than I did when I came to school last Friday," she said. "I don't think you will see my name blazing in electric lights on Broadway this season, although I have been requested to sum up for firms to endorse certain soaps, toilet waters, powders, dental pastes and other things.

MAY GO HOME.

"My address until next June will be Plymouth, and not Broadway or Hollywood."

This excited girl didn't say, but after June she probably will listen to the lure of more excitement and dash madly out of Plymouth to—Lapeer, Mich. This is her native town and her parents live there—also the scoffing kid brothers. Try and find it on the map.

Just between friends Miss Black pulled that old one about not intending to go on the stage. "I haven't received any offers," she confessed honestly, which is not according to the Hoyle of feminine prize winners.

The genius teaches the physically deficient pupils of the Cornish School on Burial Hill, Plymouth. She serves them neat lunches, directs their blackboard problems and is their "pal."

100 PER CENT. FEELING.

"I feel that there is a great field of work among children who have different diseases," she confided. "It will be the happiest day of my life when I am a full-fledged physician and take up my duties as a doctor of children's diseases."

Miss Black wishes to say a word for the present-day girl, of whom she is one, naturally.

"She is not as bad as she is often pictured," she declared. "You must remember that there are greater temptation today than any girl ever faced. I am for the girl of today 100 per cent."

STRONG FOR SLEEP.

"My advice to the modern young girl is to get plenty of sleep. I think that any girl should get at least eight hours sleep. She should be well and strong to be normal and healthy. When she goes to work in the morning she should be rested for the day and should keep in good physical condition. Long walks, participation in basketball and field hockey games will go considerably toward keeping a young woman in her toes.

"Oh, no, I am not engaged to be married. There is plenty of time yet for marriage. I am too much interested in my work at Plymouth and also my ultimate profession, that of a physician trying to do human service among children who have diseases."

SON MOURNS FATHER WHO IS ALIVE

Judge Rebukes Mother Who Made Boy Wear Crepe on His Sleeve

A little boy in mourning for a father who is very much alive played an important part in a peculiar case in Suffolk Probate Court today.

Anthony Brincolby, of South Boston father of the child, was in court as defendant in custody proceedings.

Catherine Brincolby, the mother, won the custody case. She testified that Anthony was not providing for her support, as he had been ordered by the court. Until Judge McNeely entered the mourning band on her small son's arm she was having easy sailing.

"What's the band for?" he asked. "It is mourning for his father, who was very cruel to him," the mother replied.

"What is the idea of it?" the judge continued.

"My husband was misled in our little home for a time. I had hopes of making my son believe his papa was dead and gone to Heaven," she answered.

Judge McNeely deemed Brincolby be put up, but before he did so he called up wife a lecture and ordered her to remove the mourning band and cease trying to poison her son's mind against his father.

"FOR YOU I DIE!" LYNN MAN WRITES TO GIRL

Alexius Ferrier, thirty-five-year-old Englishman, who recently arrived in Lynn from London, was found lying on the floor of a garage at No. 48 Frankfort street, Lynn, by an emptied bottle of carbonate of mercury and a note lying beside him. The note addressed to "Hazel," and signed "Alf," says:

"I tried to be good to you and treat you right, but I couldn't. For you I die."

Ferrier was taken to the Lynn Hospital, where the poison was removed from his system, but his case is on the danger list, and he is not expected to recover. The police are trying to trace Hazel and find out something about Ferrier.

JOHN M. PORTER DIES IN HOME AT HUDSON

Hudson, Sept. 30.—John M. Porter, a citizen of this town and agent of the Federal Trust Co. Bank at Boston, died at his home, No. 8 Main street, today. Mr. Porter, who had been ill since last April, was formerly years old. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Maud Porter.

AUTO ACCIDENT MAY REUNITE DIVORCED PAIR

Prominent Physician Struck While Crossing Beacon St.; Motorist Sped Away

Out of the pain and suffering of an automobile accident, romance will again enter the life of Dr. Herman W. Marshall of Bay State road, who was struck down and seriously injured by an automobile.

Immediately upon learning that the physician had been badly hurt, his wife, who divorced him some time ago, rushed to the hospital and spent the night at his bedside.

Although Dr. Marshall's name was on the danger list, physicians expressed the belief that the presence of his former wife would probably result in his recovery.

Friends of the couple were confident today that the woman's impulsive act would result in a reconciliation, and that they would be remarried at the first opportunity.

Dr. Marshall was crossing Beacon street in front of No. 840 when he was struck by a machine which sped away without stopping. The doctor struck his head on the pavement, and his skull was fractured.

James D. Adams of No. 17 Pleasant street, Waltham, witnessed the accident. He ran to the aid of the unconscious man who was rushed to the hospital in the car of Frank J. Healy of No. 131 State street, Boston.

Dr. Marshall secured considerable publicity some months ago when his wife, a former stenographer, secured a divorce on the grounds of cruelty and abusive treatment. She testified that he once came home intoxicated and burned her with the lighted end of a cigar.

BOLSTER PICKED TO SUCCEED DE COURCY

Chief Justice Wilfred Bolster of the municipal courts will be appointed as associate justice to succeed the late Hosea Charles DeCourcy of the Supreme Court, according to rumor among Boston lawyers and those who get wind of such things first at the State House. Chief Justice Bolster became a judge in 1902, when appointed a special justice of the municipal court. He is the son of former Judge Solomon A. Bolster of the Roxbury court and a graduate of Harvard and the Harvard Law school. In 1906 he was appointed court justice of the municipal courts by Governor Guild.

JUDGE PEERS IN WINDOW TO TEST STORY

Makes Trip From Court, Then Decides Policeman Mistaken in Vision

Judge Connelly today left the bench in the Brighton Court and, accompanied by court officers and counsel, inspected the apartment at No. 228 Warren street, formerly occupied by Mrs. Fannie Hicks.

This was to settle the question of whether Officer Phillips could have looked in the front window of the apartment, through two rooms, and into the dining room, and seen four men playing cards.

Judge Connelly decided it couldn't be done. On his return to court he dismissed charges of gaming on the Lord's Day against the four men whom Officer Phillips arrested.

He found Mrs. Hick had been guilty of assault on an officer and fined her $50.

LA FOLLETTE IS LEADING DAVIS BY 17 VOTES

But Their Combined Total in American's Poll Is Less Than Coolidge's

chusetts will draw the support about equally from the two other parties.

SIX DAYS' VOTE.

Told in the form column book, assembled, the story of six days' balloting in and around Boston is as follows:

Total vote	4,085
Coolidge, Republican	2,092
La Follette, Progressive	1,010
Davis, Democrat	993
Coolidge over La Follette	1,082
Coolidge's majority	89

Shift of Democrats to Coolidge 187
Republicans to Davis 177
Democrats for La Follette 156
Republicans for La Follette 111
Others for La Follette 133

The Coolidge Boston votes recorded today were taken at Highland street and Pleasant street, Malden; on both sides of Washington street from Dover street to Massachusetts avenue, at the South Station, at the Forest Hills station of the Elevated Railway Company, at Sullivan Square station, in Central square, Lynn, at the Roslindale Village transfer station, in offices on Tremont, Beacon and Park streets, and in the Summer zone and outlying districts, Lincoln and Essex streets.

How they voted in the districts named is set forth in detail in the accompanying table.

Also in these high lights of the reports submitted by the nine investigators are the following salient items:

BOSSES FOR COOLIDGE.

The reporter who went into one shop after another on both sides of Washington street in the South End found he says, "that as a rule the La Follette votes came from employes, while the bosses were inclined towards Coolidge." Several stores in the South End district were locked tight on account of the Jewish holidays.

In the shoe district, another inquirer reports, sentiment for Coolidge is strong "because of the feeling that his election will mean an immediate improvement in business."

"I found only one vote for La Follette, that of a man who voted the Republican ticket four years ago and who professes disgust at the Administration.

"One Coolidge voter has voted a straight Democratic ticket for twenty years, he told me, but will vote for Coolidge because he thinks the country will be benefitted by his return to office."

DOUBTING THOMAS.

In Sullivan Square, an elderly man who marked his ballot for Coolidge expressed the opinion that "none of them is big enough for the office." "But," he added, "I suppose I'll have to vote for someone."

Fourteen votes at Sullivan Square were cast by Elevated Railway employes.

"The younger men, and those on night shifts," the reporter says, appeared to be for La Follette. Their choice split about evenly between Coolidge and Davis."

The vote on the Sixth Day:

Number of ballots cast	393
Coolidge, Republican	288
La Follette, Progressive	154
Davis, Democrat	151
Coolidge over La Follette	134

Shift of Democrats to Coolidge	27
Republicans to Davis	14
Democrats for La Follette	62
Republicans for La Follette	61
Others for La Follette	28
First voters, etc., for Coolidge	22
For Davis	13

Mr. Coolidge fell eighteen short of a majority for the day, 288 to 305.

Strong Sentiment in Maryland for La Follette

Baltimore, Sept. 30 (Universal)—Strong sentiment in the border States of Maryland for Senator Robert M. La Follette, disclosed in the Presidential poll by the Baltimore American is making the election here this Fall a wide-open affair, with managers on the two sides worried but with Republican leaders inclined slightly to edge out the force of the surprise.

Coolidge is leading in the poll with Davis second and La Follette third, but "Fighting Bob" is running so strongly that neither Republican nor Democratic leaders will make a confident prediction of victory.

The American also has begun a poll of the State of Delaware, and there President Coolidge is running stronger than in Maryland, although La Follette apparently will poll a substantial vote from industrial workers.

The total figures for the Maryland-Delaware poll now stand: Coolidge, 3,718; Davis, 3,527; La Follette, 2,655. The poll in Delaware is by counties. Coolidge, 514; Davis, 383, and La Follette, 138.

WHEELER SCHEDULED TO SPEAK IN CHEYENNE

Denver, Col., Sept. 30—Hugh Fullerton, Jr., Democratic campaign manager for Senator Wheeler, Independent vice-presidential candidate, today announced his campaign tour. He left early today for Cheyenne, Wyo., the next scheduled stop on his itinerary.

BUTLER DENIES G. O. P. "FRAMED UP" DECISION

New York, Sept. 30—William Hunter, Republican national chairman, who resigned New York police commissioner, issued a statement explaining that his party had had no hand in arranging the case which resulted in the ruling of the California Supreme Court, refusing the La Follette electors a place on the ballot as Independents.

If I had discovered that any member of our official group had succumbed or participated in the agitation, I would have disavowed the act," said Mr. Butler.

DAWES OFF ON TOUR OF MISSOURI AND INDIANA

Chicago, Sept. 30—Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice-presidential candidate, will carry his party's campaign this week into Missouri and Indiana. The speaking "race" of the party, under an itinerary being worked out today at national headquarters here, will make an address Thursday night at Kansas City and Friday night at Fort Wayne, Ind., where John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, closed his first Middle Western trip ten days ago.

Property Qualification Results in Disfranchisement of Majority

The following is the second of a series of articles on Rhode Island's "Social Revolution," which has raged for months and which is expected to reach a climax in the coming election.

By JOHN T. LAMBERT.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 30 (Universal)—Seven per cent. of the people control the State of Rhode Island. More than 50 per cent. are disfranchised every year because they don't own $300 worth of taxable property.

The Governor has so little power that the only officers he can appoint are his private secretary and the members of the Barber's Commission.

These are the reasons which have started a social revolution here, have torn the State into warring factions, caused seventy-two members of the State Senate to run away and hide in Massachusetts and the arrest of the chairman of the Republican State Committee and two alleged accomplices for the alleged planting of a gas bomb in the Senate to scare the health of the fiery Lieutenant-Governor Toulon.

39 SENATORS.

Rhode Island has six cities and twenty-three towns. These are thirty-nine members of the Senate. Each town and each city elects one Senator regardless of population. Providence, with 258,000 people, can elect but one Senator. West Greenwich, with 287 people, sends one Senator, as many as Providence. Block Island, haven of rum-runners, with a population of 1,037, elects one Senator, as many as Providence.

The last census showed 604,000 people in Rhode Island. The six cities have a population of 429,000, more than two-thirds of the total. Yet they can elect but six-thirty-nineths of the Senate. Twenty towns with a population of 41,610, chose twenty senators, a majority of the Senate. They have less than 7 per cent. of the total population. When one considers that Senators are nominated in party primaries, it may be seen that less than 5½ per cent. of the people actually control the situation.

TWO VOTING CLASSES.

Rhode Island has two classes of voters, the registry and the property voters. The property voters can vote for all officers. The registry voters are forbidden to vote for aldermen, council men and other municipal and town officials who appropriate money. A Rhode Islander can't become a property voter, with the right to vote for all officers, unless he owns $300 of personal property. The records show that 52 per cent. of all the voters in the State are registry voters, not permitted to vote for aldermen, councilmen and the like.

Strange anomalies exist. A Rhode Islander is fit to vote for President, Governor and United States Senator, but not for a ward alderman, unless he owns $300. An immigrant, who lands here, sets up a corner banana store, makes a few hundred dollars and stops long enough to get naturalized, can vote for anyone. A local boy, whose great grandfather fought in the Revolution, who himself fought in the World War, is prevented from voting for all officers because he does not happen to own $300 of personal property.

She Threw Away Calomel and took Beecham's Pills

"I felt so miserable," said the young woman cashier to a fashionable New Jersey hotel. "A friend suggested calomel and I was about to take it.

"Another friend noticed the calomel on my desk and cautioned me against it. She said her sister took calomel and ate some fruit and the combination 'salivated' her—loosened some of her teeth and made her very sick.

"Fearing that my stomach might be in an acid condition, I bought a box of Beecham's Pills and took a dose. The next day I felt fine and I haven't needed anything during the three weeks since.

"I wouldn't take anything but Beecham's now. Some of the other girls here take Beecham's and all say they are wonderful."

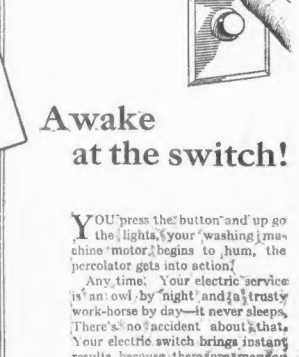
We reprint in Boston this Western Electric advertisement, from Collier's, because it pictures so clearly one phase of public service.

EDISON LIGHT of BOSTON



Awake at the switch!

YOU press the button and up go the lights, your washing machine motor begins to hum, the percolator gets into action.

Any time. Your electric service is an owl by night and a trusty work-horse by day—it never sleeps. There's no accident about that. Your electric switch brings instant results because there are men on the job to see to it.

Men, and equipment. Poles, miles of distributing lines which connect your house to the generating station; automatic stokers; boilers; generators. Most of this you never see, but it's there, awake to your call.

Wakefulness is the very keystone of electric service. The light and power men are awake to present needs and the greater needs of a dozen years hence; they are awake to every suggestion for improvement and every means for economy.

Awake—alert—on the job; their call to action is the click, click, click of switches all over town.

IRENE BORDONI IN SPIRITED FARCE

"Little Miss Bluebeard" Gives Star Full Opportunity to Display Talents

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

TAKEN at its face value, Irene Bordoni's "Little Miss Bluebeard" ran a course in the familiar way of spirited farce at the Tremont last evening, once more emphasizing that the misery of an actor in agonizing situations rarely fails to draw its own reaction from a friendly audience.

It may be just as well to skip merrily over the dramatic importance of the affair, but to turn a deaf ear to the spontaneous, almost hysterical, merriment stirred by Miss Bordoni's efforts is quite another thing.

COMPLETE CONQUEST.

If laughter that shakes the walls of the house counts for anything this little lady has made another complete conquest of that part of the town addicted to theatre going.

It was seriously a Bordoni night, and the honors were gracefully received.

"Little Miss Bluebeard" came to the American stage from France, with adaptation to home taste and requirements by Avery Hopwood. At times it took on the appearance of an old friend, for it drifted into combinations that almost demanded revolving doors and secret panels.

As done by Mr. Hopwood, however, all of the properties were strictly observed, for not until two young men passed through an unhappy night with angry women and a more than angry husband in hot pursuit.

Of course, there was no time when things were so deplorable that Miss Bordoni could not be depended upon to demonstrate her complete fitness for wearing gowns of sensational beauty or to sing a song. She had four songs with which to interrupt the flow of the chase through the particular bachelor's apartment where the characters were gathered. Goodness, how she does put life and color into a musical number.

SAUCY SONGS.

"So This Is Love," her first song, was utilized as a music theme for the play. Its melody is a constant invitation to the man who can whistle. "I Won't Say I Won't" proved a saucy little number that caught the humor and good will of, everybody.

Miss Bordoni carried herself in good form through the farce, which threatened to become riotous and get out of bounds. But it did drive straight at every funny bone in the theatre. A greater demonstration of sustained laughter was never made at the Tremont. In this respect Eric Blore came into attention, for he carried a load of hilarious troubles all through the piece. Misery funnier than his seldom, if ever, has been brought to the stage.

There is solid enjoyment in "Little Miss Bluebeard." Miss Bordoni will thrill you with her songs and delight your eye with her gowns, and Mr. Blore is quite likely to upset your dignity.

Talented Mrs. Herrick Presenting a Play for Charity

By BETTY ALDEN

MRS. ROBERT HERRICK, JR., is rather an unusual person.

Besides being blessed with golden hair and blue eyes, the former Thelma Hall is really talented.

Before her marriage to young Bobby Herrick she had won not a little fame through her artistry with the palette and brush. At miniatures she was especially gifted.

Three years ago the dainty society artist donned shimmering bridal robes, and since becoming Mrs. Herrick she has not, I believe, exhibited any of her works. Besides, about a year ago a very small newcomer arrived at the Herrick menage, but Mrs. Herrick is still keenly interested in art.

Last Spring she and Miss Constance Ripley put their clever heads together and concocted the fetching costumes worn by the Vincent Club girls in "Wake Up," which they presented in April.

JUST at present Mrs. Herrick and a group of coworkers are making plans for a presentation of Lionel Monckton's "The Arcadians," to take place at the Arlington Theatre on December 8, 9 and 10.

The Junior League is putting on the play for the benefit of the Community Health Association and tryouts will be held at the League's new rooms on Commonwealth avenue next Monday and Tuesday.

Among the prominent young matrons who, with Mrs. Herrick, comprise the committee for this Junior League venture are Mrs. L. Cushing Goodhue—ever resourceful when it comes to community health work; Mrs. Eben S. Draper, Mrs. Charles G. Loring, Mrs. Mortimer Seabury and Mrs. Maurice Osborne.

GENIAL hosts that they are, the Freddy Princes have a houseful of guests practically all the time they occupy "Villa Ste. Helene" as their place in Pau is known.

It is hard to say whether Mr. and Mrs. Prince enjoy themselves more at "Princemere," their splendid Pride's Crossing estate, or at "Villa Ste. Helene" in France. In the past year or so they have, I believe, spent perhaps a little more time at the latter place.

However, the Summer months found them at "Princemere," with Mr. Prince playing polo with quite as much vim and enthusiasm as his son, Freddy, Jr.

A few weeks ago they sailed back to Pau again, and just now they are entertaining at a fox hunt, with many guests coming down to Villa Ste. Helene from Biarritz. Rumor has it that the master and mistress of "Princemere" are returning to Boston before the snow flies, though plans are quickly made and just as quickly changed by this sport-devoted pair.

MISS ELLA SNELLING

TUE fashionables of Paris are slowly returning from the Summer resorts before going to the country for the hunting season. Week-end hunting parties are numerous, though the height of the season has not yet arrived in the Forest of Chantilly, most popular of all for stag hunts.

The Chateau of Sandricourt, the magnificent estate of Robert W. Goelet, is usually the centre of the gayest hunting parties.

SOMERVILLE PLAYERS IN NOVEL COMEDY

"Connie Goes Home," an Edward Childs Carpenter comedy, was presented by the Somerville Theatre Players last night. The play has novelty, humor, engaging characters, and a story that works its way straight into the sympathies of everyone. Its sparkling comedy is developed through a series of ingenious situations.

MARION DAVIES' 'YOLANDA' IS TRIUMPH

Cold, sinister intrigue, treachery, heart-rending romance stamped down and crushed by a cruel father, greedy for power—beauty sold for gain into an alliance with an idiotic Prince!

What girl of today under the weight of circumstances would hesitate more than half an hour to bob her hair, buy herself a nice, shiny gun and set out in pursuit of her soul as a bobbed-hair bandit, with a large grudge against the world.

APPEALING BEAUTY.

But in "Yolanda," the new Cosmopolitan photoplay that opened yesterday at Loew's State Theatre, Marion Davies, whose appealing beauty is even more striking than in previous pictures, has a better film than that.

She leaves us on the trailer, tips over a plot that has been brewing for many years in the court of Louis XI of France, and rejects her royal sweetheart, Prince Maximilian.

The knees of the movies should bend to Marion Davies for her contribution to the art in "Yolanda." For love, risking her father's wrath in wildly dramatic in high degree is the more tense moments and might considerable in the spots where the strain of her court life as the lavishly-gowned Princess Mary of Burgundy ceases, Miss Davies is vouchsafed another triumph for herself and the cosmopolitan.

For the forbidden love of Prince Maximilian of Styria (Ralph Graves), princess Mary arrays herself as a regular maid and attends the fateful silk fair.

By accident, in escaping the unwelcome attentions of a jolly landlord (Leon Errol), the Princess meets Maximilian, also incognito.

RESCUED THROUGH RUSE.

"Back home" a clandestine romance is interrupted, she saves him from assassination at her father's hands, but herself is delivered over to the prospective wife of Louis XI's favorite son. But through a ruse of her own heroism, she is rescued by Maximilian after her father's wrath in battle and the appealing romance is consummated in happiness.

Lyn Harding plays the cruel father of the Princess; Holbrook Blinn, King Louis; Maclyn Arbuckle the Bishop Lalibuie, and Jimmy Dooley, the imbecile Prince. A thin most lavish of beautiful dramatic productions.

PINERO HEROINE IN HOUR OF MISERY

ETHEL BARRYMORE

Her role in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" at the Colonial is far from being one glad, sweet song, but it does provide free play for her tumultuous emotions.

HOPPER AGAIN DELIGHTS IN COMIC OPERA

'The Chocolate Soldier' Given Fine Performance by Excellent Cast

Another week of tuneful comic opera was ushered in last night at the Boston Opera House by the inimitable DeWolf Hopper and his pleasing company, who this week are presenting "The Chocolate Soldier."

Really, it will be too bad for Boston when the time comes for Mr. Hopper to depart. There is only one fault to be found with this week's offering—there is not enough of DeWolf Hopper. But, Mr. Hopper makes the most of his opportunities, and there are few who can make as much of them as he.

The story of "The Chocolate Soldier" is an old one to theatregoers. It is a parody on Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," and a delightful parody at that. It is the tale of a Swiss soldier in the Serbian army. He is pursued by the Bulgarians and climbs into the boudoir of Nadina, daughter of Colonel Casimir Popoff, of the Bulgarians, and fiance of Alexius, who admits he is a hero.

Bumerli, the Swiss, wins the heart of Nadina and after a tangle filled with laughs, thrills, near duels and a lot of really excellent singing, he takes her from Alexius.

Coming Events

Fred Stone, with his daughter, Dorothy, will present "Stepping Stones" at the Colonial next Monday.

"Outward Bound," a whimsical comedy of the hereafter, will take the stage at the Plymouth next Monday.

The De Wolf Hopper Opera company will present "Pinafore" at the Boston Opera House next week.

Tommy Martelle in "The Naughty Dandoilette" will be the attraction at the Somerville next week.

"CLUBS ARE TRUMPS" AT COPLEY THEATRE

"Clubs Are Trumps," with Harry Green in the featured role, began its local engagement at the Copley last evening. This is a smart comedy of love and golf, with honors running even. Mr. Green, who is a new comer to the dramatic stage, has an international reputation as a fun maker through years of popular success in vaudeville. The comedy proved breezy and refreshing.

"Clubs Are Trumps" will be reviewed in tomorrow's Boston American.

BOY SOUGHT BY POLICE IN NEW YORK DENS

Picked Detectives Told to Find Franklin Roshek Dead or Alive

New York, Sept. 30 (Universal)—"Here's a list of dens. Search everyone and find Franklin Roshek, dead or alive."

That command was given to fifteen picked detectives when word from the apartment house at No. 219 West 81st street flashed to police headquarters:

"Mrs. Frank Roshek bordering on collapse. Find her son before she suffers another shock."

Just before this new squad of investigators left headquarters the distracted father rushed to Captain John H. Ayers, commanding the Bureau of Missing Persons.

His hands nervously clasping the captain's desk, he urged:

"Please—for everybody's sake—get my boy, who's been missing six days. Tell everybody that I offer a liberal reward for information which will lead to his recovery."

He was still urging more efforts as the line of grim men filed out to pear into every den frequented by drug addicts in Greater New York.

The belief is held by some investigators that Franklin, just fourteen, and having read some lurid tales, was induced to enter a dope den, where he is held against his will.

Later in the afternoon a man bearing a picture of the lost Franklin Roshek sent it up to the mother for identification. It was believed to have been taken a day or so ago at a nearby camp. When the picture was handed to her she clasped it to her bosom and screamed. A moment afterward, in broken accents:

"My—it was last Sunday—he was alive then—this was in—"

John Riley, the hunchback, of No. 1112 Second avenue, who was believed to be the deformed man seen talking with Franklin before his disappearance last Tuesday, was freed of the kidnaping charge after Franklin's playmates could not recognize him in West Side court.

New facts which upheld the wanderlust theory came to light regarding young Roshek. Instead of being a "mother's darling," he was a typical "hoboy," according to some who knew him.

Another fact: Franklin had flunked in his studies. He didn't want to go back to school and listen to the taunts of his more successful acquaintances.

An employe in the Erie Railroad yards at Jersey City said he was motoring last Friday to a camp of his near Monhasia Lake, a few miles from Tuxedo.

WOMAN OBJECTS TO MAN CHANGING NAME

Korkot Darakjeglan, Watertown shoe cutter, found Americans had difficulty in spelling and pronouncing his name, so he took legal steps to have the name changed to George Coombs.

Judge George F. Lawton received a letter from Mrs. Adelaide B. Coombs of No. 1065 Prospect street, Waltham, who objects to having Korkot assume the name of her deceased husband. Korkot's position is scheduled for a hearing in Middlesex Probate Court today. Whether or not Mrs. Coombs' objection will result in a continuance is not known.

PRINCE FINDS RADIO TIRED FEELING TONIC

High River, Alberta, Sept. 30.—After a hard seven to eight hours' work stocking the oats on his ranch near here, Alberta's Royal rancher, the Prince of Wales, tired by his strenuous labor, sank into an easy chair, and listened to the special royal radio broadcast from Calgary.

Thousands Recommend it

THEY have learned from experience that no matter how many other treatments have been tried without success, Resinol Ointment is often the one that brings speedy relief from chafing, eczema or similar itching, embarrassing eruptions.

Its soothing, healing action is brought about by qualities which cause it to sink deep into the pores and reach the very root of the disorder. It is absolutely harmless and does not smart or burn when applied to the most irritated surface.

To keep the skin healthy many people have adopted the daily use of Resinol Soap. Unsurpassed for toilet and bath. All druggists sell Resinol products.

BAN BROTHER'S ROMANCE, BUT SISTER'S O. K.

Mrs. Libbey of Malden Offers No Objection to Wedding of Daughter

When Clinton Burpee Libbey, son of Milton, decided to become a trade groom two years ago, he had forgotten all about his mother or anyone else, and now wants to.

There was a time and a row when the social cards and several weeks' gossip dealing with his wedding to Miss Beatrice Clinton, daughter of Somerville, depicted the Libbey home as a battle ground between mother and son.

Now Clinton's sister, Beatrice Porter Libbey, is going to be a bride, but everything is planned in regular fashion.

Today Mrs. Frederick C. Libbey of No. 445 Highland avenue, Malden, sent out invitations to the wedding of Beatrice and Alfred Noble McLean on Saturday night, October 11.

The ceremony will be performed in the Libbey home and there will be no secrets such as sent Clinton and his bride away from his mother's home to take up a residence at No. 10 Rockwell street, Milton.

U. S. CHURCHES DEMAND WAR AGAINST OPIUM

Washington, Sept. 30.—The Federal Council of Churches through its commission on international justice and good will has mailed upon the "Christians of America" to support, through resolutions and petitions for presentation to the International opium conference at Geneva in November, the American policy calling for the total extirpation of opium plants except to meet medical needs.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY FLOODS TO THE SOUTH

Washington and Philadelphia Report That Rivers Are Rising Rapidly

Washington, Sept. 30.—Damage reaching into the hundreds of thousands of dollars has resulted in the vicinity of Washington from rains of unprecedented intensity which have poured down for the last 48 hours.

Beginning Monday night a steady, deluging downpour continued all day Monday, Monday night and today. Fields have been flooded, crops have been beaten down, and many small streams have gone over their banks.

A two foot rise in the Potomac River occurred overnight, but indications are that the stream will begin falling today. Traffic in outlying sections has been seriously disturbed by flooded roads.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—Heavy rain during the last forty-eight hours has caused rivers to rise rapidly in eastern Pennsylvania. Flood conditions were reported from a number of places with three drownings.

Hundreds reported outlaws of thirty-seven anthracite coal mines in that vicinity flooded.

"Ma" Ferguson Has Another Court Battle Coming

Austin, Tex., Sept. 30 (A.P.)—Final decision as to the qualification of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee, to be Governor of Texas, remained today to be made by the State Supreme Court, probably next week.

District Judge George C. Calhoun brushed aside the common law barriers against the right of a woman to hold office and ruled that Mrs. Ferguson is legally eligible to fill the place to which she aspires.

Counsel for the plaintiff gave notice of appeal to the Court of Civil Appeals.

BISHOP HUGHES DECLARES FOR BOBBED HAIR

Favors Short Skirts and "Yes, We Have No Bananas" Song in Address

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Bobbed hair, short skirts and songs like "Yes, We Have No Bananas," were defended by Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of the Methodist Episcopal Church in an address here.

"We criticize their hair, their skirts, their stockings, their shoes, their acts, their cosmetics and their manners," he said, speaking of modern young people.

"I suppose when you middle-aged people were young, to hear some of you talk, you were gentle little angels sitting around on sofas with your hands folded on your laps.

"Don't you remember when the young people used to bang their hair—if it fell over the forehead? As between bangs and bobbed hair, I take the bobbed variety.

"Remember those balloon skirts? When two women met on the sidewalk one had to step off to let the other pass. As between the old hoop skirt and the present styles, give me the short skirt.

"I have heard that the song, 'Yes, We Have No Bananas,' was a sign of degeneracy. But what were you singing, you pious old steward and you staid old church trustee when you were young?

"Yes, were singing 'Pharoah's daughter on the bank, little Moses in the pool, one fished him out with a telegraph pole, and sent him off to school.'

"Now let us be fair. As between taking sacred characters of the Bible and making hilarious songs about them and the song 'Yes, We Have No Bananas,' I prefer the bananas."

JAPS WIN AT GENEVA ON PROTOCOL

Geneva, Sept. 30 (A.P.)—The difficult situation endangering the protocol on arbitration and security brought about by the demand of the Japanese delegation for an amendment to the protocol, was smoothed out today to the satisfaction of the Japanese.

This step was accomplished by a committee, including Louis Loucheur of France, Sir Cecil Hurst of Great Britain and Signor Scialoja of Italy, which, with Mr. Adachi of Japan present and approving, worked out a definite plan for arranging the protocol to remove the Japanese objections, and thereby to prevent an adverse vote by the Japanese delegation when the protocol is submitted to the assembly of the League of Nations.

The compromise plan provides a system whereby all conflicts between nations may be examined by the Council of the League when any member introduces the subject for discussion.

This is to effect the original Japanese amendment to the protocol which the Japanese delegates abandoned in favor of a much stronger one when they found the first one met with disfavor.

Having gained their original point the Japanese have now dropped their substitute amendment, the danger of which lay in the implied questioning of the doctrine of the sovereign rights of a State over its domestic affairs.

OIL GRAB PROSECUTORS REPORT TO COOLIDGE

Washington, Sept. 30.—Progress in the government's suit for the annulment of leases to naval oil reserve lands was outlined to President Coolidge today by Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, government counsel. The prosecutors will leave this week for Toronto, to take deposition there, and expect to close up the case in California next month. The criminal cases will be gotten under way here within a short time, they said.

BURGLAR SHOT BY OWN GUN; VICTIMS "SORRY"

New York, Sept. 30.—A youthful burglar, wearing a hyphen mask, was arrested today in a hospital where he had been taken after he accidentally shot himself while robbing the home of Mrs. Katherine M. Higgins in East Fifty-second street. The prisoner, who described himself as Paul Doyle, eighteen years old, had been taken to the hospital by his victims, who explained that they "felt sorry" for the youth. Doyle's revolver was discharged as he stepped over a settee in getting away.

FAST NEW NAVY PLANE OUT OF PULITZER RACE

Boston, Sept. 30.—Definite announcement that the United States Navy would not be permitted to participate in the Pulitzer race, the high speed event of the international air races which start at Wilbur Wright field Thursday, was made today. The navy had sought to enter a fast plane, built for the schneider cup races. Army officers refused the request. This leaves three entrants, all army ships and each several years old.

BRIDE OF 14 PLANS TO STAND BY MINISTER

Ballinger, Tex., Sept. 30.—The fiancee, Joseph E. Yates, held in jail here on abduction charges filed in Oklahoma, said today he would return to Allhwee, Okla., waiving extradition proceedings. The girl of fourteen whom the forty-eight-year-old minister is charged with seducing declares she would never "kiss him on the last ditch." "I have done nothing wrong except to misrepresent my years," she says. Tales said.

LA FOLLETTE PAPERS O. K'D IN WASHINGTON

Olympia, Wash., Sept. 30.—The Secretary of State today announced for filing the names of candidates for an entire State ticket nominated by the LaFollette State Progressive convention held in Seattle September 8. The party, commonly known as the Gilmore party, names William A. Gilmore, a Seattle attorney, as its gubernatorial candidate.

BROCKTON FAIR AIR RACE IS CALLED OFF

Brockton, Sept. 30.—Because of low clouds and consequent impaired visibility, the all-New England air race by Army planes planned for today was called off this afternoon. Officers in charge of the visiting air squadron said the long cross-country race, touching at least one point in each New England State, would take the planes over several mountains and entail danger to the aviators.

Captain L. R. Knight, head of the Army Air Service in New England, announced that the regular army fliers here would take part in a ninety-mile race over a thirty-mile course in the vicinity of this city. National Guard planes will fly about the course once.

CHILDREN HAVE A DAY.

More than 20,000 children attended the opening of the fair today, it being officially their day. With them were an unusually large number of adults.

All highways to the Fair were jammed with automobiles, and in spite of the 500 state and local policemen who guided traffic, the long lines of cars made only slow progress.

Mayor William T. Sullivant, speaking from the centre of the enclosure in Robinson Field, officially opened the Fair with an address of welcome.

PAGEANT BY GIRLS.

Two hundred girls from four to twelve years old took part in a colorful pageant on the field opposite the grand stand. This was to illustrate "The Road to Health," and featured clever exhibition dancing.

The Midway was jammed, and the sweeping horse show and the style show for children were heavily attended.

Five hundred school children took part in a series of racing events on Robinson Field. The prize winners in these were:

Fifty-yard dash for Junior High Schools—Keaton Farrell, Lincoln School.

Fifty-yard dash for Grammar Schools—George Burke, Goddard School.

CHAMPION SHOELACER.

Shoelace race for Junior High Schools—Robert Mackedon, Lincoln School.

LINCOLN SCHOOL WINS.

Fancy dancing contest—Lena Simuto, four years old.

Best costume contest—Marguerite De Pastica, Mary Cruise and Mildred Wickett.

Fireworks for the children in the evening ended the day.

HE'LL SAY 'YES' OR 'NO' AND TRY TO MEAN IT

Having rung a resounding bell as star of a big musical revue, beautiful Vannessi, leading lady of "Innocent Eyes," signed up for a matrimonial act—and now discovers she has a mystery play on her hands.

Anyone connected with stagecraft knows that mystery plays are not only antiques with the original worm-holes, but that they are no vehicles in which to feature a lady, anyway.

There is something uncanny in Vannessi's marriage to Henry Treat Chittenden, prospective millionaire and Princeton graduate—and if any good psychologist, amateur or otherwise, will tell Vannessi, she will award them with one of those grateful, entrancing smiles that so aid her dances.

On Sunday, Vannessi, right out of a clear sky, let the world know that she had been hiding a perfectly good husband for no reason at all, but than now she had brought him out into the bright light of day and he could blink if he wanted to.

HE MIXES THINGS SOME.

The act went over all right until the husband heard of it. Then he denied he was Vanessi's husband.

Vannessi did the right thing; she swooned. But then Henry Treat Chittenden had a surge of memory and revealed that maybe he had been married to Vanessi after all.

In fact, he recalled the officiating clergyman as Bishop Olmsted of Taunton, Ct., and if Chittenden wasn't mistaken, June 26 was the happy day. But how are you going to tell an actress anything when she's busy with a swoon?

Vannessi's real name, as far as public property is concerned, is Vanness Jardiniere and, according to the rising young millionaire, she gets fearfully embarrassed at times.

EMBARRASSED? JUST LOOK!

One of these times was when a girl reporter called on her in her Boston room, according to Chittenden.

"The poor child was fearfully embarrassed," he said, meaning Vanessi, of course. "It was just about midnight. Well, Vannessi just told the reporter that I was her husband. She said we had been married two months. It wasn't up to me to say anything and I just let her cover up her embarrassment by telling the wedding story."

It will be perceived here that Chittenden is a quick and generous thinker—at midnight, under certain conditions.

The strange part of the show-shop tangle is Chittenden's unequivocal denial of his marital affiliation with the delectable Vannessi, and then his still later switch to the "Yes" side.

It being a shame to leave a good mystery hanging in the air in this fashion anywhere act probably will be written shortly.

SYNAGOGUE SLAYER ADMITS SHOOTING

Los Angeles, Sept. 29.—A coroner's inquest was called for today on the death of Harry Denny, fifty-five, shot to death in a synagogue where a Jewish New Year's service was in progress. The alleged slayer, Solomon Ostrow, thirty-five, is held on a murder charge. Police say he admitted trailing Denny to the synagogue and shooting him, because of a dispute they had had over business matters. Two other worshippers, a man and a woman, were wounded.

LESSON FOR HARVARD STUDENT

He'd Pay Fine When Court Needed It: That's What He Thought

A knowledge of court procedure should be included in the curriculums of all institutions, of higher learning, according to Talmadge Woodward, Harvard student.

Furthermore, Woodward has discovered that courteousness and a proper respect for the law pay better than flippancy and intolerance.

Woodward appeared in Municipal Court today charged with speeding on Beacon street, August 2, and with refusing to obey an officer's command to stop.

Judge Thomas Dowd fined the young man $10 for speeding and placed the other charge on file.

Court Officer Hayes held out his hand for the fine, whereupon Woodward produced a check book.

"I'll just make it out," he said to Lieut. Edward.

"See here, this is no hawkshop. The court doesn't need the money. You've got a whole lot to learn about some things."

He then ordered the previous finding revoked, and fined Woodward $25 for refusing to obey an officer and $10 for speeding. Woodward smiled and announced that he would appeal, whereupon he was ordered into the dock.

At the expiration of last an hour he became restless and sought advice from Court Officer Hayes. As a result he apologized to Judge Dowd who again restored himself and handed down the original sentence. Woodward paid the $10 in cash and departed.

GIRL VANISHES AS MOTHER GOES TO STORE

Miss Ida Picciello, sixteen years old, of No. 2 Hull street, North End, disappeared from the home of her mother, Mrs. Lena Picciello, two weeks ago, is being sought by the police of a number of cities. Her mother appealed to the Boston American to aid in the search.

The girl came home from work saying she felt sick. Her mother left the house to go to a store and on her return her daughter had gone. She has not been heard from since.

The girl is described as being sixteen years of age, four feet tall, light brown hair, brown eyes, long hair. She wore at the time of her disappearance black velvet dress, black shoes and stockings, a gray coat and blue hat.

OPEN SHOP CAUSES SHOE FACTORY STRIKE

After voting to refuse to accept open shop conditions as announced by Treasurer Arthur L. Evans, 200 workers of the L. B. Evans Shoe Company of Wakefield went on strike.

The shoe factory has operated on the union plan for 15 years. Treasurer Evans announced Saturday that the shop would go over to the open arrangement, declaring that during the last year he has had more labor trouble than during the prior 14.

$5,000 BAIL FOR BOY HELD AS "BANDIT"

Sixteen-year-old Harold Page of No. 28 Allston street, arm of an youthful "bandits," was arraigned today in East Cambridge, charged with robbery.

Young Page, with his "pals," is alleged to have held up Cornelius Kelleher of the Independence Ice Company, East Cambridge, and to have stolen $170 from him. Two of the "pals" were arraigned yesterday.

Page was held in $5,000 until Saturday.

ASST. ATTY.-GEN. OTTINGER QUITS SERVICE OF U. S.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Albert Ottinger of New York today tendered his resignation as President Coolidge as an assistant attorney general, effective October 1.

BANK GIVES BAIL FOR LOOTER

Hanifin Pleads Guilty to $90,000 Theft and Won't Be Prosecuted

Springfield, Sept. 30.—William J. Hanifin, Union Trust Company guard, appeared in the local district court today and pleaded guilty to the larceny of $90,000 from the bank by which he was employed.

Hanifin, who was brought into court from the judge's lobby, was not arraigned, and was recognized by only a few of the persons who thronged the courtroom.

The clerk asked, without calling the defendant's name:

"Do you plead guilty to this charge?"

"Yes," Hanifin replied, in a low tone.

CASE CONTINUED.

The case was then continued to October 17, and Hanifin was released on $10,000 bonds furnished by William E. Gilbert, president of the bank.

He was then taken to the Bertillon room at police headquarters, where he was photographed and fingerprinted.

The $90,000 taken by Hanifin is safe in the bank vaults again.

Hanifin will never have to serve a day in jail for the theft, it is stated.

The money was recovered in New York from Chicago, where detectives met the thief. With the money on its way East, Hanifin boarded a train, and President Gilbert had he was coming back to face the music and at Albany, N. Y., he gave himself up to detectives who were waiting for him.

ARRAIGNED TODAY.

The officials of the bank have decided that in view of the full restitution made by Hanifin, after he had stolen the small army of defendants on his trail, that the charge of grand larceny will not be pressed.

Regardless of the announced intention of both the Union Trust Company and the Massachusetts Bonding Company not to prosecute Hanifin, Judge Heads let it be known that the case will take the ordinary course and final disposition will depend upon whether the court decides to take jurisdiction.

"MAKES NO DIFFERENCE."

It was said by Prosecuting Attorney Madden that the disembezzlement of the bank and bonding companies officials to appear against Hanifin would make no difference, since they could be subpoenaed, and testimony of the police as to admissions made by Hanifin would be sufficient to establish the crime.

President Gilbert was closeted with Judge Heady after the arraignment and court officials said he made a special plea for clemency, bringing out that Hanifin was an old and trusted employee of the bank with no other blot upon his record. Judge Heady is said to have made no comment or promises.

The story of Hanifin's theft reads like a fairy novel, but the story of his return, and the return of the fortune he stole, is even stranger.

How brain befuddled with the fumes of moonshine whiskey, Hanifin, for years a trusted worker of the bank, made his way unmolested to New York.

BRAIN CLEARED.

While police throughout the country were looking for him, and while the search was centered in New York, Hanifin walked to the Grand Central terminal in the metropolis and, unmolested, boarded a train for Chicago.

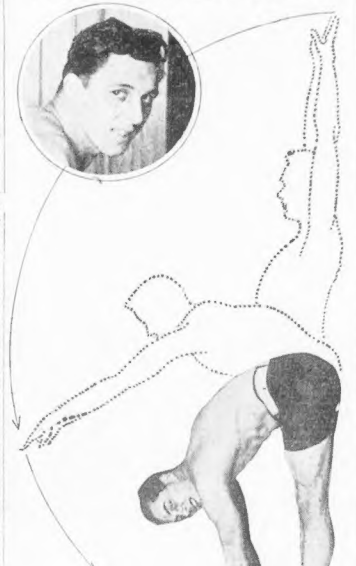
Arriving there, Hanifin's brain cleared. He was sick in body and mind and his first sober thought was to return the money which had become a hated burden to him.

The messenger took stock. He found that he had spent about $270 from the money he had stolen. He took $50 more to cover his expenses. Then he made the remaining $89,700 into a big package and expressed it to the bank.

Next he walked to a telegraph office.

"Sent money Saturday night by express. Arrive home tomorrow night. Hanifin."

PERFECT MAN TELLS HOW TO KEEP WELL



LEONARD ST. LEO

Doing the first of his "health exercises," described in detail below. He says half an hour a day will keep the doctor away.

POLICE PLAY AT MURDER AND GET $60

Worcester, Sept. 30.—Miss Dorothy Sergeant Albert H. Murphy and John Farrar of Holden, reported they "murdered" John DeSantis, South Grafton, sixty-three years old, was arrested on a charge of conspiracy.

Grannons is said to have offered Hanifin money if he would kill DeSantis, who is his neighbor. Saturday afternoon and the Holden man went to the home of the policewoman.

Sergeant Murphy accompanied Francis to the Grandone home and told Grandone they had shot the Italian down near his home. Grandone is then said to have produced $60 in payment for the "murder."

MAJ.-GEN. LOGAN DUE ON SAMARIA TOMORROW

The Cunard liner Saturnia, from Liverpool and Queenstown, is due at East Boston at 10 o'clock tomorrow. She has 133 saloon, 324 second cabin and 411 third class passengers, all for Boston.

Among those returning from abroad are the Rev. Dr. Edward S. Housmanses, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, and Mrs. Housmanses; Major-General Edward Logan, head of the Yankee Division, and Mrs. Logan are returning to their home in South Boston.

The Baltic of the White Star line is due at Commonwealth pier next Sunday with a large list of passengers, including many American tourists.

DR. STEVENS FINED FOR BREAKING AUTO LAWS

Dr. Michael M. Stevens, Woburn physician who was acquitted on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Grace Logue, his office assistant, in 1921, paid $20 in fines today for alleged infractions of the auto regulations in Cambridge. He was fined $15 for operating an auto without a license and $5 for failing to sound his horn.

ACTOR SHOWS THE WAY TO HEALTH

The most expensive thing in the world is free.

That sounds like foolishness, but Leonard St. Leo, physical culture and health specialist, promises to prove it.

If the business man would systematize his health rule as he systematizes his business and if the housewife would follow her huge herd in such health habits as she regulates her household, we would be a slim, healthy race and the most expensive bills of all, doctors' bills, would be shaved practically to nothing.

So today, St. Leo, the actor-athlete, begins to show the way any person, society by ordinary habits, can get into condition and stay that way.

The jumps into a warm tub, shakes around a bit and then inside the house for the double process of opening the drain and turning on the cold water until all the warmth has gone.

If a shower-bath is available, he prefers that, but the process is exactly the same—warm first, cold afterward.

There, in obtainable, the perfect man goes his few simple exercises, all of which will be detailed in these articles and the first of which is included in this.

The first exercise is simple. Stand with feet together. Raise the arms straight overhead, palms out, with thumbs touching. Keep heels flat, and stretch every muscle up. Then, still with the "stretch" idea in mind, bend forward and down, with head up and eyes straight ahead, until your palms are flat on the floor. Then pass half a rod off your shoulders.

Try it one even the tips of your fingers will not reach this first time—not for many times afterwards—if you keep your knees stiff, as you should. Now go back slowly to the original position. Breathe naturally.

Repeat this first exercise half a dozen times.

Tomorrow you will learn more.

SUES RICH HOBO FOR $100,000

Mrs. Harvey, Secretary to James Eads How, Charges Promise to Wed

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.—James Eads How, wealthy hobo, spending his honeymoon in California, has been sued for $100,000 in a breach of promise suit filed here by Mrs. Cora Victoria Harvey, his private secretary during the last twenty years. She asserts she had been engaged to the spendthrift of the migrant worker fourteen years.

How, a son of the late builder of the Eads bridge and other huge structures married his stenographer, Miss Ingeborg Sorenson, in Chicago, August 18 last.

As the day How was married, Mrs. Harvey asserts, she was in Atlantic City, N. J., with her parents awaiting his arrival. They were to be married then, she said, and were to start on a three-year journey through Europe.

She first met How in 1904, she declares in her petition, when she and her husband were engaged in hobo welfare work for the defendant. Six years later she was divorced and How started to shower her attentions upon her, she alleges.

In 1910, she further alleges, a date for their wedding was set, but How balked at a church wedding and insisted on being married by a justice of the peace.

VEHICLES ANNOY CITIZEN

Board of Aldermen Requested to "Rope Off" Two Busiest Thoroughfares

Baby carriages are to be ruled off the principal streets of Chelsea!!!

That is, they are to be barred from Broadway and Arlington streets if one Bernice Bertram, a resident of Chelsea, has his way.

A piece of legislation such as has never before been known in Mayor Quigley's domain was introduced Thursday by a resident of the city's pride of the municipal Eugene Bertram. The handy lad, rock the cradle of liberty are responsible for this piece of ruthless legislation.

"On every Thursday and Saturday evening after 5 o'clock, close Broadway and Arlington streets to all baby carriages," proposes Mr. Bertram.

So spraught are Mr. Bertram over the menace of the baby carriage, to pedestrians, whose great lumbering trucks, with their sweet-eyed occupants and mothers that he has requested the board of Aldermen to pass an ordinance to that effect at the recommendations during the time mentioned.

Mr. Bertram is not in favor of permitting baby carriages on the streets, even if the parents equip them with horns, bumpers, headlights and Gorell silenced brakes. The many thirty preambulators burning Chelsea lawns and highway would be barred. The sweet-faced, pink-cheeked tots, the envy of the passers bearing the first offerings of the Chelsea weekly weeds, if Mr. Bertram has his way.

DEMPSEY PICKS GIBBONS AS BEST HEAVYWEIGHT IN SIGHT

ST. PAUL MAN PICK OF CHAMP

By JOSEPH MCLVANET.

JACK DEMPSEY indicated today that Tom Gibbons will be his next opponent. The champion said nothing had been done definitely toward making the match, but he added:

"I believe Gibbons is the best heavyweight in sight.

The fact that the St. Paul boxer stood up against the champion for fifteen rounds in Shelby and that no man ever floored him indubitably influenced Dempsey's opinion, but the same facts would seem to give Gibbons an edge as a box office attraction, without which no title bout can be promoted.

THINKS WILLS TOO OLD.

When asked to comment on the availability of Wills as an opponent, the champion said:

"I think Wills is an old man—too old to put up a real battle. In the Wills-Firpo fight neither showed the public anything great. Wills might have won by a knockout if he had been willing to take a chance and wade in. So might Firpo have won in the same manner—but it looked to me as though each one was afraid and the other didn't have the courage. If one of them had gone in to win and will logically, there might not be any doubt about the next championship fight.

"I'd be perfectly willing to meet Wills if the affair could be staged successfully, but there's a good deal of doubt about that, it seems."

OTHERS IN SIGHT.

Questioned concerning Jack Renault's status, Dempsey remarked:

"Renault's a good man, and Bartley Madden's good, too."

But he did not seem to think either an important factor in the present situation. Firpo, in my opinion, has suffered no severity by the loss of the decision to Wills to be considered a legitimate claimant. When it was suggested to the champion that Gibbons and Wills might fight it out, he said:

"That might be a good idea. I wouldn't mind fighting either. I have no objection to fighting a colored man—anyway it would be good to get something started that might develop a few knockouts and then the situation would clear itself. But I'd be looking forward to some thing."

All of which may seem like an indirect suggestion that if Tex Rickard would match Wills and Gibbons in one bout and Madden and Dempsey in another, and let the winners meet, the survivor could do business with Jack Dempsey when the open air season returns to this town.

Moe and Joe They Get the Dough---Sometimes

Moe took another of his many falls out of the grabbers yesterday. He jammed a thousand megs on Superlette to win the third race and raked in half a grand, which added to the fat leather makes the total $24,285.-21. With the help of Johnny Glier, of Richmond Hill, Moe is going after some more real jack today.

COFFROTH BIDS FOR EPINARD'S SERVICES

New York, Sept. 30.—James Wood Coffroth, director general of racing at Tijuana, Mexico, is in New York to try and persuade Pierre Wirth, either Epinard's owner, or send the French race horse to Tijuana for next Spring's Coffroth Handicap.

The cunning Coffroth, a gallop of one mile and a quarter for three year-olds and over, will be renewed the last Sunday of next March. With an added money value of $50,000, it will grow $65,000 and be the richest race for horses three-year-old and over that will have been run on the North American Continent in a twelve month, unless an unusually big field assembles for the third of the Epinard races, the mile and a quarter set for October 11, at Latonia, and boosts the value of that special to above $60,000. The Latonia race of the Epinard series will have an added money value of $50,000.

No meets of Eastern racing for three-year-olds and over appear in the Coffroth as regards value. The nearest to it are the $25,000 Dixie at Havre de Grace, special of one mile and three sixteenths, and the $25,000 Washington Handicap, 1 miles and a quarter feature of Laurel Park's October meet.

Ban Names Umpires

Chicago, Sept. 30.—President Ban Johnson of the American League announced Tom Connolly and William Dinneen as the American League's umpires in the World's Series starting in Washington next Saturday.

GLENNON'S RETURN TO FORM CHEERS HOLY CROSS

Worcester, Sept. 30.—Bill Glennon has returned to form. He is again the broken field star of two years ago. Time and again the Holy Cross star dodged, sidestepped and wiggled through Catholic University for long gains in the opening gridiron battle. His work presages another great season for the Purple.

Outside of slight injuries to Norton and Wallis, Holy Cross escaped luckily in the opening clash.

No promising material for Saturday. The St. Johns eleven from Brooklyn is now here with a veteran lineup, a team undefeated last season. The same promises to be much tougher than was the contest against C. U.

BRONX PITCHER SIGNS WITH THE PHILLIES

New York, Sept. 30.—Jack Doyle of the Bronx has signed to pitch for the Phillies. Doyle pitched for the Tenafly Club against the Little Ferry team at Tenafly, N. J., yesterday afternoon. He showed he was ready for a chance in the big leagues by holding the Little Ferry team to five hits and fanning nine batters out. In addition he struck out fifteen batters.

Doyle will go South with the Phillies next season.

UNION AIMS TO BUILD UP CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM

Schenectady, Sept. 30.—Twenty candidates have reported for the varsity cross country team at Union College. With these men to build from Harold Anson Bruce, the new director of athletics and former track coach at Lafayette, hopes to have the Schenectady collegians represented in a branch of sport in which it has not participated for six years.

Manager Jack Kroger has arranging a schedule with the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Association championships as the goal.

Huggins Felicitates Champs

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—"I wish them all the luck in the world against the Giants," said Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, when informed by the Associated Press that Washington had clinched the pennant.

Semi-Pros-Amateurs

(Replies to Challenges Will Be Taken Care of If Addressed to Boston American Sporting Department.)

Fred Moore.

The famous Knot Hole Gang of the Boston Braves, consisting of 8,000 boys who have been efficient rooters at the big baseball games will now break into football, and there will be something doing during the next few weeks. Through the chairman of the Gang, William Brigham, and Fred Moore of Harvard, the boys will be admitted to certain games at Cambridge. This is a brand new idea and is an extension of the highly successful Knot Hole Gang idea from baseball into football.

LIPTON TO MAKE HIS FINAL CUP CHALLENGE

American friends of Sir Thomas Lipton who have been abroad the Summer and visited the big race between Shamrock IV and Resolute that he will challenge again for a final effort to win the International Yacht Cup.

Sir Thomas, who has announced the challenging for the historic cup over a period of twenty-three years, and whose sportsmanship has won him the friendship of thousands of Americans, wants to win the cup before he dies. It is his hobby.

The Resolute is being kept in perfect condition up at the old Herreshoff yards in Bristol, R. I., and those who crew the cup feel confident that she is still capable of upholding the honors of America, in spite of the fact that she is more than ten years old. She is said, it will be remembered, was built in 1913, and brought home from the year for the races that were to take place that fall, when the World War brought about a postponement.

COLGATE SEEKS STAR TO TAKE PLACE OF WELSH

Hamilton, Sept. 30.—Who will take Jim Welsh's place?

That is the question that Colgate men are asking. And it is undoubtedly the biggest question that faces Dick Harlow.

Welsh graduated last year, but his most promising understudies, Stan Vose and Sam Hoyle, also graduated, so that Colgate's backfield is now a thing of the past.

The Maroon squad has been sound through short scrimmages daily, and if these workouts have revealed anything at all, it is the weakness of the spot.

Crowther, Beattie and Sloan are left from last year's eleven, but their varsity experience can't make up for the loss of Welsh.

BOXING BOARD MADE SHEPPARD KEEP IN LINE

Local boxing lovers owe their chance to see Red Chapman and Johnny Shepard engage in their title match next Friday night at Mechanics, not to the cleverness of Matchmaker Tom Goodwin of the Suffolk Club, not to the astuteness of Charley Cardin or Paddy Mountain, the respective managers, but to the State Boxing Commission.

Messrs. Foote, Buckley and Lane are the real matchmakers for this battle which the fans have been awaiting.

After arrangements had been made for the bout with Chapman, Minehan received a flattering offer to show the boy in New York against Johnny Dundee. Dundee would make 124 pounds, and accordingly Shepard was allowed to put on weight.

Then Cardin and Chapman indicated that the Woburn tinker go through with the scheduled match. Johnny seemed ready to do it. It seemed as though the match would be called off, and Cardin, Paddy Mountain had apparently won his way to the limelight.

Then the commission stepped in. "You must go through with that fight with Chapman or you'll lose your license," was the ultimatum they said. So Boston gets the fight that has been characterized as the "natural" match of the year.

JACK DELANEY HAS TAKEN ON WEIGHT

New York, Sept. 30.—Jack Delaney, who boxes Jimmy Slattery in the Garden Friday night, seems to have taken on weight since he knocked out Paul Berlenbach. Apparently he is edging into the middleweight class and can no longer be regarded as a menace to Harry Greb as the boss of the middle ponders. There is an impression that Delaney will stop Slattery even though the bout is limited to six rounds.

The argument is that a boxer who works with the hands dangling at his side as Slattery is expected to be nailed by a straight-button sharpshooter like Delaney, whose right hand carries a kick. However, the Buffalo boxer has a knack of "dimpling" his left to and to the mark with a well directed by few jabs and his nimble legs carry him in and out of range in a fashion to make him a most elusive mark.

ANOTHER JOCKEY LIKELY FOR EPINARD AT LATONIA

New York, Sept. 30.—A. P.—Epinard, great French thoroughbred which will meet the best home rival by the international eye-lash on Saturday for the second time this year, has lost Linden, his national special on Latonia, may have a new jockey up in the third of the series of three races for the Kentucky Derbyist II.

Pierre Wertheimer, owner of Epinard, declined to consult himself definitely on the subject, but it is known he was keenly disappointed in the way Everett Haynes, his American rider, handled the French four-year-old. It was said he is considering replacing Haynes, who has had the mount on Epinard in all his important races of the past two seasons.

FRANKIE GENARO TO GET BIG PURSES

Phil Bernstein, manager of Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, who has gone West for fights, will receive the sum of $5,500 with an option of accepting 40 per cent. of the net receipts for fighting Eddie Ortlowd for fifteen rounds at New Orleans on October 8 and Kid Pancho on October 16 at San Antonio, Tex., for which he will draw down a guarantee of $3,500.

Gridiron Gossip

RAIN kept the Dartmouth football squad from practising on the field, and Head Coach Hawley kept the men inside for a long blackboard talk thereon the prospects of the Norwich game were gone over. A short drill in the basketball cage in the gymnasium followed the talk.

There will be but little work for the team until the middle of the week, when the men will be called upon to scrimmage.

BROWN.

Lining up two elevens in the shadow of the goal posts, the Brown coaches put the Bears through two hours of drill on Pembroke field. Every man on the squad expect Jack Richardson, quarter, who has a bruised leg, got into the scrimmage.

The first eleven, with Myers calling signals, found the scrub line a strong one, but Kimm, Power and Dixon managed to break through for good gains. Tony Magee, who has been playing at end, moved into tackle.

M. A. C.

After Saturday's poor showing against the Colby Cadets, the Mass Aggie football men went to work preparing to meet Bates at Amherst on Saturday.

Mountjoy and Jones received injuries in the Colby game, the extent of which cannot be stated until after examination by the team physician.

PRINCETON.

Rain kept the Princeton football squad from practising on the field, but Coach Roper put the men through a long signal drill in the gymnasium. Regulars were shifted from end to end, taking the place left vacant by the absence of Tilson. The team also put through signals and the head position drills in the baseball cage.

TUFTS.

Coach Eddie Casey started his final week of preparation for Tufts' opening game of the season Saturday against Connecticut Aggies.

The first and second teams were run through a light scrimmage with quite a bit of time being used in getting French and Ciabault accustomed to punting from scrimmage. Duke Ciabault did the punting and receiving for the second team, while French punted for the first team with George Perry receiving.

Two new men reported today, Hal Leonhardt, tackle on the 1927 freshman team, and Leonard Bolger of Allston, ex-Dean Academy end.

Coach Ollie Wescott gave his freshman squad its first scrimmage of the season.

NORWICH

The Norwich football players got only a light workout, sufficient to keep their muscles from stiffening. All but Molter, left tackle, who played a fine game in Hanover, reported on Sabina Field. Molter considerably bruised, but he will be out, today. Sewanka, now Norwich end, injured his arm at Dartmouth, but the hurt will not keep him from practice.

YYALE

Reversing his usual policy of opening the week with rudimentary drill, Head Coach Ted Jones ordered 20 minutes scrimmaging between the varsity and scrubs. Louie Weinecke was restored to the quarterback role and indications are that he will lead the attack against North Carolina Saturday. Dick Wertheim, freshman rank occupant last year, was promoted from the second to the regular lineup, displacing Emile Coene.

COLBY

Coach Roundy, dissatisfied with the shooting made by his Colby football team against New Hampshire state, gave the boys a long blackboard talk to correct the many mistakes that were noticeable. This was followed by a long forward pass scrimmage.

These Two Helens Seem Born Under the Same Star

Helen Wills

Helen Jacobs, who, like Helen Wills, recently won the girls' national tennis championship at the age of fifteen, not only lives in the same California town as the Olympic champion—Berkeley—but in a house in which the Wills family formerly resided. Besides that, she has the same tennis tutor that Helen Wills had when she began to play an important part in tournament tennis.

The new tennis prodigy has one hobby besides tennis, and that is short story writing. She hasn't offered any as yet for publication, but feels confident that she can write an acceptable story.

THOMAS SELLS HOLDINGS IN SHREVEPORT CLUB

Shreveport, La., Sept. 30.—Ira F. Thomas, former big league catcher, scout for Minnie Mack, and for the last two seasons president-manager and owner of the Shreveport baseball club of the Texas League, has sold his holdings in the local team to O. L. Biedermarn, majority stockholder.

RACING OPENS AT BROCKTON FAIR TODAY

Racing at Brockton Fair is one of the big features of the day. Four big events on program and the horsemen is looking forward to a wonderful day of thrills.

The Free-for-All Pace which opens the day is a "peach" of a feature to be staged today. It is on the program as the first event. This is a genuine surprise, for the class of the pacing game is listed.

Katie Hal, Banner M, John Henry, Grace Direct, Mary O'Connor and Julia M. Direct will take the word in this important event which carries a purse of $3000.

Banner M. recently broke the track record at Topsfield, covering the mile in 2.08¾, great time for that track.

The entries for today's races follow:

ROGERS HORNSBY SETS TWO BATTING RECORDS

St. Louis, Sept. 30.—Rogers Hornsby, Cardinal second baseman, takes a place beside the greatest hitters in baseball history. This season Hornsby established two new records, one in batting average and the other in batting in runs, for the fifth consecutive season.

Hornsby finished with 527 hits in 143 games, making a season average of .4253; four points above George Sisler's mark of two years ago. Ty Cobb's record batting average which tied Ty Cobbs record set in 1911, the only batter ever to do so.

The previous consecutive batting record was held by Honus Wagner, who led the league in successive years.

CLARK BEATS WILLIS IN OPENING LYON

Bobby Clark of Somerville defeated Willis Wilkins of Roxbury in the second main event of the season at Casino A. A. indoor show on Tuesday night.

Tommy Duffy of Revere got a decision from Gene Rocker of Somerville in the eight-round semi-windup, while Al Stevenson of Lynn was awarded winner over Joe Sherbini of Somerville in a six-round bout. Jackson of Lawrence over Pepper Williams of Boston in four rounds.

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

By Wm. F. Kirk

IT makes no shudder to be read the paper nowadays, I see in my Ma & my pa last nite.

It does, doesn't, bother me Pa. You proud little cuss.

I do not blame Bobby for feeling that way, said Ma, it makes me shud-der, too, and Mr. Jones murdered a bank president, and Ma, I was glad it proved me getting more sav-ings & crime, should of been shot, instead.

No, said Pa, I think most of the people should have had to run the bank instead of Pa.

Sometimes I think I don't want to go to school, said Bobby, world will see fit to, I said to Pa.

I never let Bobby, said Pa. What would I know of world. Facts are most good people, as the world finds out, but possibly you may be aware of that, I am not sure Aron good, said Pa, and Xtiy both.

Aw, Bobby, said Ma, this what you love father so much for.

He our very worst sense to say that! said Pa.

Of course I do, said Ma. If all the world was as wonderful and just as good to a wonderful world. You are so humorous, dearest, said Ma, Bobbie, and he loves to say that dearest.

You need not mind, Bobbie, said Ma, what your father says, he has a peculiar view, mother father, as we know, said Ma, knows the dearly no such fool as he seems to be.

As I banged the check from A Pa over the room on the bottom of it I happened to see Bobby was not fill in the kind, and Pa, anything to do to endorse, I don't particularly, and

My father, Bobbie, and Ma, will you come on & have a wife of your own, you have a gambling effect upon me, I said, handed the forum, and Ma, It will help you to get ready a soft spot in the room Ma said.

But I am going to marry a rich man who will have a check book of his own, I said.

I do not wish to hear you speak like that, Bobbie, said Ma. You must not be a rich person, but a good man, and be the one that has the most love to give to his wife and children, said Ma.

Mom and Pa, I am not marrying anybody for a long time, I said.

Maybe Pa & Ma are right, but I can see myself getting married & I am born with lots of love, and how I am going to pack around for some fun first.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. F. X. Mahoney
Boston Health Commissioner

ALCOHOL and man, an affinity of which has been treated more extensively than any other subject under the sun, by psychologists and psychiatrists, and others whose professions, centered their theme, but a new observer whose deductions are forever interesting from a medical standpoint.

The action of alcohol on the nerves, forming chronic alcoholism and mental deterioration, and the consequent social problems, are matters of medical knowledge.

The action of alcohol on the nerves, forming chronic alcoholism and mental deterioration, and the consequent social problems, are matters of medical knowledge.

A certain amount of mental help be afforded as food and investigations performed on animals, as actions in individual. As a food, he wants to consume it, and in the form of liquor, which is the particular menace.

Alcohol, generally speaking, is always influences in nerve stimulation, and so brought about by the consumption of alcohol.

The action on the nervous system is marked and significant, but it is not the only one. There is a gathering effect upon the kidneys and tissues developed by it, and this help you to see which it is also and essentially depressant.

The marked of normalcy are increased by the consumption of moderate amounts and quickening of the pulse is brought about.

The action of alcohol on Organs the scientific action of the alcohol on the digestive tract comes may be affected by the quantity of alcohol in other tests, and in the sense of the stomach, therefore impairing digestion and assimilation of food, and bringing about a normal condition for health and sleep.

In the weakness of old age and in some cases of disease it has a good deal to say in favor of alcohol as the stimulations and tonifying effect. Whose starting habits that the absolute of the question of alcohol would be contrary to the permanent interests of the race. His conclusion is confirmed by one to Professor Raymond Pearl, in which the latter professor of Biology at Johns Hopkins University, found that the excessive use of alcohol is in person diminishing the mean duration of life.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Tax payers should be relieved of one burden, the expense of maintaining the very costly Federal Trade Commission. Either that, or the operations of the commission should be drastically overhauled. The commission has completely missed fire.

High hopes were cherished when the commission was formed that it would prove helpful both to business and the public. The expectation was that this authoritative body would hold friendly counsel with banker concerns and business associations and advise them as to what they could or could not, should or should not do. There was then much talk of ruinous uncertainty as to what was permissible and what was not, proper and improper. "Now," said business, "we have a government body whom we can go for counsel." Everyone concluded that the commission would act in a sort of empire of the business game, seeing to it that producers and consumers alike received fair play.

Alas, the federal trade commissioners instead of becoming umpires, became prosecutors. They instituted actions right and left. For a time it was felt that perhaps the commission's multitudinous attacks were justified.

But what has been the commission's record?

Up to this year, it has gone after more than a thousand firms or corporations or associations. But it had finished only little more than half of the cases it had started.

Of thirty-five decisions taken to court, twenty-three were found by the court to have been wrong. In other words, twenty-three of these thirty-five orders of the commission were totally nullified.

Only seven were upheld, the balance being still in process of review.

Would any employer continue to pay an enormous salary to a man who made three wrong decisions for every right decision?

Business organizations are just as much in the air today as they ever were as to what they may or may not do without incurring prosecution—persecution—by the Federal Trade Commission or other governmental department. Not only has the $8,000,000 spent in maintaining the activities of the commission been taken out of the pockets of you and me and other taxpayers, but our cost of living has been further increased by the enormous amounts business has had to pay to defend itself from the attacks of the commission, attacks which, as the record shows, have so often been absolutely unwarranted.

What would happen were American business men to form such offensive and defensive organizations as exist in Britain, Germany, France and elsewhere?

The Federal Trade Commission would hasten to start our business men on the way to jail.

There may have been little reason to worry about foreign competition during these recent years when we have been gathering in the wealth of the world. But a battle for world trade is brewing.

Shall American business and the American government present a united front to foreign ormanizations backed by foreign governments?

Shall our business men be compelled upon to fight trade enemies at home as well as trade enemies abroad?

HARVARD GIVES RETAIL TIRE TRADE STUDY

By FRANK H. MELLON.

Financial Editor.

Interesting indeed is the September bulletin of the Harvard Bureau of Business Research, presenting statistics covering operations of the retail automobile tire and accessory business in 1923.

Report of the bureau shows that for a group of 68 firms that did not carry on any repair work one of merchandise amounted to 11.8 per cent of net sales and total expenses to 22.3 per cent, so that the representative net profit ratio was but 1.1 per cent of net sales.

A typical firm with net sales of $72,000 realized a net profit of $792 after the 8 firms specializing in tire repairs, the dollar figure being $2,232 for a firm with sales of $72,000 for the year.

	Common Figure
Net sales	$72,000 100%
Cost of sales sold	51,120 71
Balance	20,880 29
Selling expenses & exps.	10,080 14
Advertising	1,152 1.6
Delivery	216 .3
Office exp & salaries	504 .7
Telephone & telegraph	216 .3
Rent	1,440 2
Heat, light & power	720 1
Repairs	72 .1
Insurance	360 .5
Depreciation store equip	144 .2
Depreciation of delivery equip	72 .1
Total interest	1,080 1.5
Miscellaneous expense	1,152 1.6
Losses from bad debts	288 .4
Total expenses	18,778 26
Net profit	792 1.1

Manufacturers 4.5 times.

Statistics on operations of forty-four firms with net sales less than $72,000 show an average loss amounting to 0.1 per cent of net sales, whereas forty-four firms with net sales of $72,000 or over reported average net profit equal to 2.2 per cent of net sales.

It is also interesting to note that companies conducting a repairing thing method, which is considered by favorable basis. Typical operating statement for eighty-three dealers shows that total expenses of repairing departments amounted to 73.5 per cent of net receipts, leaving net profit amounting to 26.5 per cent. of net receipts.

the markets of the world is worth actually more than the dollars of the United States. Swiss money yesterday sold well above par.

POOR GANDHI, sincere patriot of India, is still starving. He says he will eat when he reaches the point of death, not before. He is fasting as a panance for recent riots between Hindu and Mohammedan mobs, also hoping to "conquer the Englishmen by love."

Gandhi is an optimistic Nahanna, if he thinks Englishmen can be "conquered by love" when it comes to world domination.

Also Gandhi should know that if India can be saved by starving, India would have been saved long ago. Millions of Indians have starved. You don't conquer anybody by starving yourself, but by starving the person to be conquered.

That's the sad "iron law" of the world.

MEXICAN BOND SURPRISE

New York, Sept. 29.—A $50,000,000 issue of Mexican bonds is offered here by J. L. Arlitt, a banker of Laredo, Tex.

He announces proceeds will be used for payment of interest on Mexican external debt in accordance with the agreement reached in 1921 between Mexican officials and the international committee of bankers on Mexico.

The bond issue was a surprise to Wall Street, where Arlitt is practically unknown. Mexican officials in New York also were surprised.

Bankers first learned of the proposed floatation of the bond issue when they received Arlitt's circulars giving details and explaining the purposes of the new loan.

Miss A. M. Hutchmayer, in charge of Arlitt's Wall Street office, said she understood the $50,000,000 issue of bonds had been underwritten all ready. The securities are 6 per cent. gold dollar bonds at a price to yield 5 per cent.

STOCK PRICES IMPROVE

In trading on the New York Stock Exchange, after initial irregularity, prices generally showed an improved tone, despite higher renewal rate for call money. Coaden was hammered down to a new low at 22¾ and Standard Plate Glass and Columbia Carbon established new minimum prices at 18 and 39¾ respectively.

American Can was in supply on the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of 1 1-4 per cent., but rallied a point.

United Drug was marked up 3 points. General Electric, American Tobacco, American Water Works common, Worthington Pump and William Wrigley also recorded substantial gains.

Lehigh Valley touched 61¾, the highest price since the segregation of the coal properties. Call money renewed at 2½ per cent.

Consolidated Gas of Baltimore was lifted nearly 3 points to a new high, while Colorado & Southern touched a new top for the year.

In Boston Stock Exchange trading, changes were mostly fractional only.

QUOTATIONS STRONG IN COTTON FUTURES

New York cotton futures were strong. Prices: October, 23.39 to 23.54, at latter up .20; December, 23.15 to 23.05, at latter up .15; January, 23.15 up .20; March, 23.39, up .15; May, 23.50, up .11.

7% External Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Dated September 15, 1924 — Maturing September 15, 1958

Bearer Coupon Bonds in Denominations of $1,000 and $500. Interest payable March 15th and September 15th. Principal and interest payable in gold at the office of Bankers Trust Company, New York. Fiscal Agents for the Loan, without deduction for any French taxes. Redeemable only as a whole on or after September 15, 1932 on any interest date at 103 and accrued interest, except for Sinking Fund as shown below.

Graduated annual Sinking Fund payments beginning with $248,000 on September 15, 1931, and progressively increasing to a maximum of $1,540,000, calculated to retire the entire issue by maturity through purchase at not exceeding 100 and accrued interest or by annual drawings for redemption at 100 and accrued interest.

Information in regard to this issue is given in a letter from M. Stéphane Dervillé, President of the Board of Directors of the Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean Railroad Company, dated September 25, 1924, copies of which may be had from the undersigned on application and from which we summarize in part as follows:

Description of Company

The Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean Railroad Company was organized in 1857 and is the largest railroad in France. Its lines comprising about 6,121 miles of road include a main trunk line from Paris to Lyons and Marseilles, and branches and extensions southeast of Paris, through the French Riviera and to the Swiss and Italian frontiers.

GUARANTY OF THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT

The Government of the French Republic has undertaken, as described in the above-mentioned letter, dated September 25, 1924, to provide, if necessary, funds sufficient to pay interest on these bonds and sinking fund sufficient to retire the entire issue by maturity.

These bonds are a direct obligation of the Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean Railroad Company and rank pari passu with all the other outstanding debt of the Company.

For payment of interest and sinking funds on outstanding bonds, there is available:

1. The operating receipts of the road;
2. The "Common Fund" of all the largest French Railway Systems into which Fund the excess receipts of these Systems are paid;
3. The payments which the French Public Treasury has undertaken to effect if necessary to make up any deficiency in the "Common Fund" as provided by the terms of the Convention between the railways and the French Government ratified by the law of October 29th, 1921.

Application will be made to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

Price 93¼ and interest, to yield over 7.55% to maturity

Should the issue be called as a whole before maturity the above yield would increase to a maximum of about 8.45% if the bonds are called on September 15, 1932, the earliest option of the Company. The yield on any bonds called for sinking fund will increase up to a maximum of about 8.29% for those called on September 15, 1931, the date on which sinking fund operations begin.

This offering is made in all respects, when, as and if issued and accepted by us and subject to the approval of the French Minister of Finance and French Minister of Public Works, and of Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell of New York, counsel for the Bankers. We reserve the right to reject any and all subscriptions in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount applied for and to close the subscription books at any time without notice.

It is expected that delivery of temporary Bonds or Interim Receipts will be made on or about October 20, 1924, at the office of Goldman, Sachs & Co., 30 Pine Street, New York, N. Y., against payment therefor in New York funds.

DEMANDS RIGID CONTROL OF BROKERS

New York Prosecutor Shows How Defaulter Had Hoodwinked Stock Exchange

New York, Sept. 30.—Citing the $2,500,000 Day & Heaton bankruptcy as "scandalous" and "disgraceful" evidence that stock exchanges were powerless to regulate the conduct of members, District Attorney Banton declared today that he would renew efforts before the Legislature to have all stock brokerage houses placed under the control of the State Superintendent of Banking.

Mr. Banton stressed the point that George H. Christian, missing members of Day & Heaton, whose defalcations wrecked the firm, was able to conceal from the New York Stock Exchange the firm's precarious insolvency. The district attorney made public this statement from a letter Christian is reputed to have sent one of his partners, Edmon A. Waterbury, just prior to the bank failure:

"For a number of years," Banton quoted from the letter, "my accounts in the office have been much involved and constantly getting worse in spite of every effort."

Pershing Aide Honored

Paris, Sept. 30.—General Adelbert De Chambrun, who was one of General Pershing's aides during the World War and professor of tactics at the American War College in Washington in 1919, has been made a commander of the Legion of Honor for recognition of his services in the war.

Read How Mrs. Walsh Was Helped by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mannington, W. Virginia.—"I took the Vegetable Compound when having the turn of life. I had been sick for seven years. I would get a little better, then I broke down again. It would be hard for me to describe how I was, for I was a perfect wreck. I suffered with a pain in my left side, then I would have numb spells, and I would think I couldn't live. I would have hot flashes, then would come chills. I was no weak I would think I couldn't ever get a meal ready. My work was a burden to me. I was not able to do my housework half of the time. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has given me strength and health. The hot flashes left me and I got better of the numb spells. That summer I could do my housework and worked in the garden a good bit. I tell all sick women what your wonderful medicine did for me, and will always recommend it. I am known to all my neighbors, and you can publish this statement because it is true."—Mrs. JOHN W. WALSH, R. No. 1, Box 28, Mannington, West Virginia.

COMMONS STIR ON SEDITION CHARGE

Government Says Communists Tried to Make a Martyr of Party Editor

London, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Stormy scenes occurred in the House of Commons today during the questioning of Attorney-General Patrick Hastings with regard to the mysterious abandoning of prosecution on the charge of sedition of the editor of the Communist paper, Workers' Weekly.

Mr. MacDonald declared he was not willing to allow an exposure at this time of the real circumstances of the case and urged that further consideration of it be postponed until the regular Autumn session of the House. To this all parties agreed.

Attorney-General Hastings said the Communist party desired to make a martyr of the editor through prosecution.

HODGE SCORES SUCCESS AT SELWYN

Were a company of just ordinary actors to present the three-act drama "For All of Us," the piece, in all probability would fall flat.

In the hands of William Hodge and the players associated with him, the piece rises to a dignity that easily acquires for the cordial reception bestowed Mr. Hodge and his company by the first Boston audiences to witness the drama, at the Selwyn.

The drama was written by Mr. Hodge himself and its presentation was also directed by him, which accounts for the fact that throughout its entire three acts it is peculiarly fitted to the talents of the distinguished star.

Religion plays such a strong part in the piece a cynic might observe that it was a clever bit of propaganda for Christianity, while the lines of Tom Griswold, ditch-digging foreman, ex-convict and drunkard who finally ardent but unsouth apostle of the Scriptures (William Hodge), are at times very strongly homiletic.

Of William Hodge it can truthfully be said that he would take an Uncle Tom's Cabin show and make a success of it. Frank Losee, as the police, is a polished actor of the old school—a type that is encountered only infrequently in this day and age of jazz. Marion Abbott as the banker's wife gives an excellent portrayal of a faithful, loving, level headed wife, who is able to chart and steer a clear course under difficulties.

Boston likes William Hodge, and it will like him no less in "For All of Us" than it did in "The Man From Home," or any of his preceding shows.

FRANCES WHITE SCORES BIG HIT AT KEITH'S

Frances White, the saucy diminutive musical comedy star, is back in Boston this time at Keith's in a cycle of her own songs and dances and she was given six encores and still her audience demanded more. With a new repertoire of songs, and with Ted Murray at the piano, Miss White went over bigger than ever before.

The "Four Diamonds" also contributed to the evening's entertainment with their bright songs and flashy dances. The Chevalier Brothers, listed on the program as the entertaining entertainers, in an acrobatic act, received their share of the applause, as did Jay C. Flippen, the black face comedian, who gave a solo skit called the "Hand What Am."

HUB VOTERS CAN REGISTER BEGINNING TOMORROW

The Board of Election Commissioners announced that sessions for the registration of men and women voters will be held in two places in each of the twenty-six wards of Boston, beginning tomorrow, and will continue daily from 2 to 10 p. m. until Wednesday, October 15, inclusive.

Davis' Plea for League Is Grave Blunder

As presidential candidate of the Democratic party, the Honorable John W. Davis is endeavoring to convert the American people to the League of Nations. A more inept, untimely and ominous effort can hardly be imagined.

The personal and party arguments against the League as an issue are familiar—the long line of Democratic precedents against America's participation in Europe's politics, the rebuke administered to Mr. Wilson in 1918 when he departed from these precedents, the stunning defeat of Mr. Cox in 1920 when, with Mr. Wilson, he tried to nullify a hundred years of Democratic policy and finally the refusal of the Democratic National Convention to accept the League as an issue for this campaign.

All these arguments are familiar, but there is an argument in defense of the people's welfare and this argument is not, can not be, familiar, for it is new every day that the League of Nations meets in Geneva, new with every important enterprise that the League undertakes to spread its net across the world.

What would happen to American welfare if that net should be spread across the United States? What would happen if this republic should become entangled, as Mr. Davis would have it, in the meshes of Europe's international relations? What would happen to the well being of 113,000,000 Americans?

In answering these questions, let every American keep in mind that the European nations have today as always a set of primary interests entirely aloof and apart from ours. Yes, let him keep in mind that Europe has a set of primary interests which oftener than not are even opposed to ours.

The League is reaching out to regulate immigration. The members without exception are opposed to the immigration policy of the United States. Their primary interests are not only aloof from our interests in this respect, but are opposed to them. Greece wants to send us a million refugees; Italy, a million of her surplus population, and so on. As a member of the League, what friendly nation would the United States find to help support the American policy and sustain America's regulation of her own citizenship? None, absolutely none.

Can't the advocates of the League see with their eyes or hear with their ears? Can't they understand that the United States is a comparatively newcomer among the powers, that in world trade the United States is inconvenient to other commercial nations, that with its shipping it is a costly intruder among sea-going peoples, that with its towering wealth it has become an unloved competitor with the old world nations, that with its successful democracy it is an unwelcome example, and with its giant industry an uncomfortable lesson in prosperity?

The facts are engraved on the hearts of the people, as the people have proved by 7,000,000 majority against the League in 1920 and as the people, if pressed too far on this issue, are likely to prove again—more than likely to prove again—to the confusion of all who in this campaign defy the verdict already rendered and repudiate the decision which has never been withdrawn.

Let's Have Good Sportsmanship

The reaction to the California Supreme Court's decision forbidding the printing of the names of La Follette electors on the November ballot ought to be a strong sentiment in his favor among the liberal-minded people everywhere in this country.

The liberal minded are of all creeds, classes and parties. They are the good sports of America and they stand by the old American slogan of "Favors for none and a fair chance for all." And whether they have made up their minds to vote for Coolidge or Davis or La Follette in this election, they will resent what they consider discrimination against a large group in our American citizenry. The Supreme Court's decision will confirm millions of men and women in their grave suspicions that the mass of power in this country had drifted out of the hands of the people and into the hands of the big financial interests.

It will strengthen their belief that they waste their votes when they give them to candidates of either of the two major parties. They have one more reason to say that HUMAN RIGHTS have gone under in the fight and have been overwhelmed by PROPERTY RIGHTS, and it is a sad day for this country when such a thesis can be reasonably maintained, a sad day when the liberals are forced to admit its uncontradictable truth.

This decision WILL clinch that opinion in the minds of the liberals. They will remember how the interests controlled the two big conventions and accomplished the nomination on both tickets of candidates favorable to those big interests. That did not surprise the people of this country; millions among them long ago lost their primitive faith in conventions.

Now they will see the influence of the big interests reaching in and affecting the judgment of our COURTS—and that is a more shocking spectacle, for it degrades a reverence in the hearts of the people.

The courts have power to interpret our laws liberally or to interpret them strictly; they are sacredly commanded, however, to interpret them in a sportsmanlike manner. It is a blow to our finest Americanism to have the courts interpret them in behalf of the big interests and in denial of the right of a large liberal element to express its reasonable views.

This decision has strengthened the belief of many people that the revolutionists are not the La Follette people, but that the revolution has already occurred—and that the La Follette movement is a counter revolution against usurpers of human liberty.

We had a popular government once, we have one no longer. Ever since the Civil War the emphasis of power has been shifting, and now it is getting out of the reach of the common man. The liberals are merely trying to bring this great country of ours back to the fine old American popular forms. We need justice, we need fair dealing, we need a government of good sportsmanship once again.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

LOVE is a stimulant for the heart, an anaesthetic for the brain, and an opiate for the common sense.

The bachelor who has "scores of love" to give, naturally shies at the thought of promising to keep it all with the confines of a wedding ring. A woman's "no" may sometimes mean "yes"—but her "yes", alas, always means boredom.

Helen Rowland

After marriage, some men seem to make up on Sunday afternoon all the sleep they lose while courting a woman.

A man likes to feel that a woman depends on him for advice, opinions, bright ideas and final decisions; it's rather a shock to his vanity to discover that what she really depends on him for, is her sustenance, her raiment, her roofpiece, and her diversions.

A man's Winter loves, like his Winter hats, may be carried over from year to year; but his Summer flirtation, like his Summer straw, is usually a one-season affair, which he throws on the shelf—and forgets.

Marriage would be a lot safer and surer if a girl could only "prime" a man's heart, as she does a melon before accepting it, so see whether it is sound or not.

The average man can have so much fun with a man and a time table, that a woman wonders why he never believes in getting on a train and actually GO somewhere.

This is the time of year when we make up our minds just where we will NOT go next Summer.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis.

LIFE'S a house of many windows, looking out on varied views and our natures are decided by the windows we may choose. There are narrow, shuttered casements where few visions of light creep through, and the watchers from them never find an aspect fair or new. There are windows with ornate, unpleasant ways, gloomy corners and sordid alleys, where no fragrant sunbeam strays, where no vagrant sunbeam strays. Then what folly to be looking where such ugly pictures are when we might as well be gazing at the splendor of a star! For life's house has other windows, wide and pleasant, clear and high, giving out on windy ways and the ever-changing sky. Lovely lands are spread before them, shining fields of expanding truth, glory of the East is shining fine and the Summer's silver rain. Joyous bits of life are passing like a pageant, hour by hour, honored age goes slowly onward, youth goes gayly, clothed in power, and the air is sweet with roses from the bee, bird rejoice, sing and wing with merry laughter ringing from children's lips. Who would look for gloomy places born of sunsets, swept by gales, when they might have ocean's wonder and the line of gallant sails? Life's a house of many windows and the eyes find their choice, looking out on scenes that soothe or that make the heart rejoice. Light and shadow, tears and laughter, life can show these every one; but the wiser folks are looking toward the flowers in store.

No Money for Rent

Helping Hand Editor:

Will some kind reader please help a father of five children get work. The mother has to work to keep them in food and they haven't any money to pay the rent due in a few days. The father hasn't had work for quite a while. He is an A-1 candy maker. All the children need clothes. They must have immediate assistance. MRS. L. M. H.

Baby Carriage Given

Helping Hand Editor:

I have a baby carriage in pretty good condition that some mother can have by sending for it.

MRS. C. B.

Thank you, Mrs. C. B., mother of six children, will be so glad to get this carriage. We are asking her to call for it.

Children's Clothes

Helping Hand Editor:

I would like to have you send me the name of some poor family that is in need of clothes. I have some baby clothes and some other small children's clothes. MRS. E. S.

Thank you, Mrs. P. P., mother of four small children, expecting another visit from the stork, will welcome your offering. We are sending you her address.

Working Way Through E. U.

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a freshman medical student at Boston University and am looking for employment to help pay part of my expenses at school. I would like to wait on table during meal hours in some boarding house and in this way get my board, or tend furnaces and do odd chores around. Anything would satisfy me if it would conform to my hours. JAMES H.

Clothing for Children

Helping Hand Editor:

Kindly send me an address of someone wanting children's clothing from one to three years.

MRS. E. M. F.

Many thanks, Mrs. E. F. has two children of the ages you mention who are greatly in need of clothing.

Home for Girl

Helping Hand Editor:

Would some little girl about fourteen to sixteen years of age like to come and live with us? Our home is not palatial, but it is clean and wholesome. We are a young couple, American and of Protestant faith, and, of course, a girl of similar faith would be most desirable. We would be very glad to send her to school and make her home life pleasant as possible. My work keeps me away quite often, and I am sure that a young girl in our home would be good company for my wife and kiddies. I should like to hear from some little girl who has never had a real home.

W. B. T.

Wants Sewing

Helping Hand Editor:

I have some dresses that could be made over, also a girl's coat, size 14; some blouses and skirts, so if you find a mother who wishes to make over, she is welcome to what I have. M. OB.

Thank you. Mrs. C. A. N., who is handy with the needle, can make use of the dresses, and her girl will welcome the coat.

For Mrs. B. P.'s Girl

Helping Hand Editor:

Please send me the address of a worthy family where there is a girl of twelve or thereabouts. I have various pieces of wearing apparel, including a Winter coat, and shoes, size 4, which might be useful. MRS. L. S.

Many thanks, Mrs. B. P.'s twelve-year-old girl is in need of just the clothing you mention. We are sending you her address.

Infants' Clothes

Helping Hand Editor:

I have quite a few things for an infant in pretty good condition which I will be glad to give to anyone who will call any evening.

MRS. E. B.

Many thanks for this welcome offer. Mrs. M. Z. S., mother of three little ones, again expecting the stork, has been asked to call as you request.

Baby Coming

Helping Hand Editor:

Would someone help me? I have four girls, twelve, ten, nine and two years old, and boys five and six years. My husband is not able to work. He wears size 42. I would like a coat size 42. We look for a new baby, and I would greatly appreciate some clothing for it.

MRS. W. C. T.

For Children

Helping Hand Editor:

Kindly send address of little girl three or four and boy six or seven. I have not very much, but want it all to go to one party.

S. D. L.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Mrs. C. who has a boy and girl just the ages you mention and both greatly in need of clothing.

CREMATION GROWING IN FAVOR

By DR. FRANK CRANE

AGAINST the custom of cremating the human body after death the prejudice seems to be lessening.

A conference on the subject was held by distinguished men of science, religion and other walks of life, recently in England.

Bishop Gore spoke in favor of cremation and his remarks were interesting not only because of their intrinsic force, but because of his position as a prelate in the Anglican Church.

According to him the only really logical contention against cremation was that it destroyed means of ascertaining whether a person had died by poisoning. From a sanitary and utilitarian point of view the advantage of cremation could not be denied. The strongest position against it is that of sentiment. The Catholic Church carefully excludes theological grounds from those upon which it is prohibited. The chief motive is a reverence for immemorial custom.

The Christian idea of the resurrection of the body does not in any way mean the preservation or reconstruction or recovery of the material particles of the present body, although this idea is implied in the phraseology of the Nicene Creed.

The movement in favor of cremation is a part of the movement of sanitation and science against sentiment. Sentiment always holds in connection with the dead and it is very difficult to resist, yet the problem of disposing of dead bodies in large States is constantly growing more acute.

Those in favor of cremation depend upon logic, while those opposed to it are governed by sentimental reasons.

The conflict between logic and sentiment is universal and covers every phase of human progress. It takes time to accomplish any reform, especially when opposition to it is entrenched in the feelings.

As far as the resurrection of the body is concerned it would be as easy matter to gather the materials from the air, or from whatever place they have been scattered, as it would from the ground. Besides this, the fact that the particles of matter from the dead body go, in time, to the construction of new bodies renders a literal adherence to a bodily resurrection very difficult.

Just what the resurrection body will be is not known. It will be some sort of clothing for the human soul, but the matter had probably best be left where the Scriptures put it, which was that "There is a spiritual body and there is a natural body."

There can be no doubt, however, that cremation is the most sanitary and scientific method of disposing of human remains.

STUDYING HISTORY OF THE ATOM

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

A RUSSIAN savant, W. Vernadsky, in an interesting discussion of the new science, geochemistry, which "studies the history of the atoms of our planet, of its shell, while mineralogy studies only its molecules and crystals," opens up a novel view of the relations of life to the chemistry of the atom. He shows that former ideas, based on philosophical, or even theological, conceptions had no relation to the atom as now known to science. Upon this "new body, with undiscovered properties, which had never been discerned by human understander or intuition," geochemistry is based.

"The ninety-two elementary bodies found by the older science do not represent all the forms of atoms. Investigation has proved that there exist atoms having a very different structure, but which present identical chemical properties and cannot be distinguished except by their different atomic weight, by some physical properties, and by the character of the radiations that they emit in radiochemical transformations.

These strange atoms, called isotopes, are known to the number of sixty or more, so that instead of only ninety-two there are at least 150 forms of atoms, and probably several hundred.

Now, the composition of natural bodies seems to be a function of the structure of the atoms. In the shell of the earth the atoms are arranged in four principal "modes"; thus in the deeper regions are "the viscous, or fluid, incandescent magmas," in intermediate regions rocks formed by molecules; in the biosphere (life sphere) where we inhabit, the atoms form everywhere living matter, while in the upper atmosphere, the stratosphere, free atoms and ions predominate.

"In the course of time the elements pass incessantly from one mode to another, and this perpetual migration of the atoms is the principal fact of geochemical history. . . . It is clear that these modes represent only special cases in cosmical space—nebulae, dust-clouds, or stars—in the interior of the earth and in other planets we see indications of the existence of other modes of arrangement (ajustements) of atoms which we do not meet with in the thin pellicule of our planet."

Geochemistry takes up the study of living matter, sometimes from a new point of view. It considers the amount of matter (mass) and of energy contained in living matter and compares it with those contained in the biosphere. Thus arise such questions as whether "the quantity of life" on the terrestrial surface is constant, and what part of the atoms of the biosphere is to be found at any given moment included in living matter. In this connection Vernadsky says:

"In geochemistry the living organisms form an integral part of the mechanism of the terrestrial crust. One finds the same function of living matter, without change and without interruption from the most ancient periods known, from the archean era. The quantity of matter which is contained at a given moment in the organisms appears to be constant, the same as has been constant—since that time—the quantity of oceanic water, the composition of the atmosphere and the hydrosphere, and the mean temperature of the biosphere."

This, he remarks, has an important bearing on the evolution of living beings, which must be restricted to narrow limits, for the quantity of living matter remaining the same, the changes of form and of physiology only represent different arrangements of identical materials. Not only the same minerals have formed the same associations since the beginning of life on the earth, but the same quantities and the same types of atoms have always entered into the living part of the mechanism of the globe.

ONCE-OVERS

DO NOT USE FRIENDSHIP FOR PERSONAL GAIN

When money is concerned it is a mighty good friend who will not take advantage of an opportunity for gain through that friendship.

Some friendships are stronger than golden strands, but they are rare.

It is natural for a person to think first of his own interest.

It is usual and proper for one to think and work first for his own gain—who else would do it for him.

However, it is a pretty poor specimen who will take advantage of a friend for personal gain.

When you ask or make a loan it should be accomplished in writing and in a regular business way.

You and your friend may be honest, but if something should happen to one or the other and the matter came to be settled by others in charge of affairs, how could the truth be made known and justice dealt to the heirs?

How can any business debt be satisfied legally without writing?

Personal agreements are all right as far as they go, but promises do not take the place of statements in writing. They don't bind those who should pay, nor are they fair to those who have loaned to a friend and want settlement.
